Hale Praises Plans For Local Care Of Veterans' Cases

State Medical Society Head Says It Is Proof Medicine Is Free of Aggregates

Arrangements for "home town medical care of veterans" made jointly by the medical profession and the Veterans Administration were praised here today by Dr. William Hale, president of the Medical Society of the State of New York as "another refutation of the assertion that organized medicine does not concern itself with aggregates of persons."

Dr. Hale addressed the Third District Branch of the Society at the Governor Clinton Hotel, today, comprising the counties of Schoharie, Albany, Rensselaer, Greene, Columbia, Sullivan and Ulster.

The speaker asserted that doctors' responsibilities placed upon them by the community from time to time as a result of the complexities of present-day living and cited numerous arrangements made from time to time with agencies responsible for providing medical care for certain parts of the population.

"Few communities," Dr. Hale said, "are left untouched by the doctor's activities. His work on health boards, public clinics, public health and welfare associations and civic organizations is evident in every community. Certainly these activities reflect social responsibility. So does the doctor's participation in welfare medicine, hospital ward service, workmen's compensation, emergency government programs and medical programs and medical insurance plans where fees are set at a minimum and the doctor subordinates his own interests to that of a certain group or groups in his community."

Dr. Hale stated that the agreement recently reached by medical societies throughout the country with the Veterans Administration for medical care of veterans with service-connected disabilities is further evidence that the medical profession is aware of its responsibilities to special groups for whom government is responsible.

"By permitting all licensed medical practitioners in the state to examine and treat veterans, the patient can go to his own doctor," Dr. Hale said.

Kerhonkson Board Assigns Registrar

Assistant Will Help Those Unable to Make Trip to Kingston

The Kerhonkson draft board, which now has its headquarters with the other three draft boards of Ulster county, in the Central Post Office building on Broadway, at its reorganization meeting Wednesday decided to assign a registrar to duty at the office of Attorney LeRoy Lounsbury, Canal street, Ellenville.

This action was taken so that registrants required by law to register for the southern district of the county, may do so in Ellenville if they find it impossible or inconvenient to make the trip to Kingston.

At the meeting yesterday Attorney Lounsbury was voted acting chairman of the board. Mr. Lounsbury, replacing John K. Murray, of Ellenville, who had resigned, while William A. Warren of Hurley was voted member-secretary, replacing the Rev. William C. Combe, who had also resigned.

Five Members of House Military Unit Say Ring of Defenses Needed in Striking Distance of Russia

Washington, Sept. 19 (P)—Five touring lawmakers, home from a six week Far Eastern inspection trip, said today America must strengthen its military and political positions in the Pacific.

Specifically, the five members of the House Military Committee who traveled 38,000 miles since August 10, said they are convinced of the urgency of building up a strong ring of defenses, reaching within striking distance of Russia.

While insisting that the group's attitude is not one of belligerency toward the Soviet Union, Rep. John E. Sheridan (D-Pa.), who headed the subcommittee, told reporters the recommendations are intended to insure against any eventuality. The five will prepare a formal report later.

The lawmakers held conferences with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander in Tokyo, and with Gen. George C. Marshall, who is in Nanking trying to mediate differences between Chinese Nationalists and Communists.

In addition to Sheridan the group that made the entire trip included Rep. William L. Dyer (D-Mo.), Rep. Charles McNary (D-Ind.), Rep. William L. Dyer (D-Mo.), Rep. Charles McNary (D-Ind.), Rep. William L. Dyer (D-Mo.), Rep. Charles McNary (D-Ind.).

Short (R., Mo.), Thomas Martin (R., Ia.) and Leroy Johnson (R., Calif.). They were accompanied by Rep. Feighan (D., Ohio) of the House Judiciary Committee. They visited Alaska, Honolulu, Kwajalein, Guam, Saipan, Iwo Jima, Japan, China, Korea, Siam, Okinawa, the Philippines and Australia.

Favors Defense Line Sheridan said he favored a defense line anchored in Alaska and Hawaii, with supporting bases reaching as far as British possessions off the coast of Australia.

From these bases, he said, new long range, high speed bombers could dominate the Pacific.

Sikes said he favored retention of a strong base on Okinawa in addition to bases in the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam, Saipan, Iwo Jima and Alaska.

"The seeds of World War III already have been sown," he said. "We must maintain our defenses at a higher rate of efficiency than ever before. I don't expect war, but we can't take a chance."

Sikes described China as "the main trouble spot" of the world and accused Communists of "working openly there for control."

He demanded that the United States stiffen its attitude toward Russia and what he described as the Soviet's plan to "extend its sphere of influence all over the Orient."

Sikes said he found "too much complacency" in Alaska and urged that strong defenses be established there. Russia, he said, is developing bases in Siberia opposite Alaska. He added that unconfirmed sources indicate an entire Japanese army of an estimated 1,000,000 men is being trained in Russia.

The committee members were unanimous in their praise of Marshall's efforts to settle the Chinese internal troubles. They said, however, his work is being hampered by what they called a lack of good faith on the part of both the Nationalists and the Communists.

Chou Says Policy Of U. S. and China Hints Russo War

Shanghai, Sept. 19 (AP)—Chou En-Lai, No. 2 Communist, announced today he had quit the Nanking peace negotiations and asserted the Chinese and American governments' Far Eastern policies are based on the assumption there will be a Russo-American war, with China as an important base.

Chou, in an exclusive interview, said he personally does not believe such a war is in prospect "because neither the Soviet nor American publics want war."

Return of Imperialism He warned, however, "the outbreak of a third world war will inevitably lead to revival of Japanese imperialism and its penetration into China rather than victory for the Kuomintang (Chinese Government Party)."

Chou based this conclusion on his opinion that the United States, if engaged in war with Russia, would rely upon Japanese support rather than Chinese "because Japan's economy is more stable and its manpower is more readily mobilized although North China and Manchuria would obviously become a major battlefield."

"Such a war would result in nothing but tragedy for China," he said.

Asked if the Chinese Communists want the Chinese civil war placed before the United Nations Security Council on the grounds it constitutes a potential threat to international peace, Chou replied:

"If the United States government abandons its position as mediator and sides fully with the Kuomintang, in other words, if it continues its present policy, America will find herself called upon."

Parents Endorse Program Of Grouping of Students

After a two-and-one-half-hour pro and con discussion at No. 7 school Wednesday evening on the merits of the "reading readiness" program which is being carried out in the public schools of Kingston, one of the objecting parents who attended the meeting called for a vote by hand and as a result among the approximately 50 parents who had come to the "protest" meeting, the program was endorsed by a more than two to one vote.

The meeting had been arranged after several protests had been made over the "grouping" of students in accordance with their ability to read. Principal Stephen G. Hyatt and Mrs. Frieda Dingee, grade supervisor in charge of coordination, represented the school authorities and the meeting was opened by Mr. Hyatt who explained that the meeting had been arranged in order that parents who had shown interest might be heard and also that the matter might be explained and presented by the school authorities. Mr. Hyatt stated that some of the parents has become perturbed a week ago over the plan which had been arranged last year and had been put into effect at the opening of the present school year at No. 7, as well as other schools in the city. Thus far only at No. 7, has there been any public expression of protest.

As a result that meeting had been called and parents invited to attend and after having the method explained, he said, they might ask any questions they desired.

Mrs. Dingee, who is in charge of the coordination of work in all grade schools, was present to present the matter.

After briefly stating the aims of the program, which incidentally has been in effect for some time to a somewhat lesser degree in the city schools, Mr. Hyatt turned the meeting over to Mrs. Dingee who

Vogel Can't Say Why Opera House Project Is Halted

Explains He Doesn't Know Why Job Is on Unfair List; Hints Unions Are in Dispute

Action on a work stoppage that has tied up the erection of additional office space at the former Opera House building, 277 Fair street, was reported nearing a climax today but official details were lacking.

Apparently the result of a jurisdictional dispute between the carpenter's union and other groups, the stoppage has been in effect for nearly 10 days. During that time the job has taken on the aspect of an on-again, off-again proposition.

Work was resumed this morning after several days' layoff but was again stopped within a few minutes.

Charles Vogel, a contractor with the Colonial Construction Company, said he had never been approached by a member of the Building Trades Council and had never been given a reason why the work was stopped.

Will Attend Meeting Mr. Vogel said he had been notified to appear at the Council's next meeting on Wednesday, September 25. The contractor insisted that he has never been given any notice that the project had been classified "unfair to labor" by the Building Trades Council, and that he could not account for the union's withdrawal.

Repeated efforts to contact Sam Doyle, chief of the Building Trades Council, have proved futile. It was reported unofficially following last week's meeting of the Building Trades Council that a few local projects had been declared unfair to organized labor. This report could not be substantiated or denied because Mr. Doyle was out of town today.

Workers Dispute Asserting that he could ascribe no other reason for the stoppage than a jurisdictional battle, Mr. Vogel said it could be between the bricklayers and the carpenters, the bricklayers and the masons or between several groups.

If it were a jurisdictional dispute, Mr. Vogel contended, the work should have continued and

Wallace's Row Still on In Cabinet

Although He Is Under Gag, Fight Has Not Subsided, Settles No Issues

Letter Is 'Gesture'

Truman's Release Taken as Friendly Move by This Country

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, still Secretary of Commerce but under a temporary presidential gag, stepped to the sidelines of the row over American foreign policy today. But the dispute he started raged unabated inside President Truman's cabinet.

Moreover, top administration officials made clear that the compromise truce by which Wallace will make no public utterance until the end of the Paris Peace Conference next month does not settle any of the basic issues he raised—either concerning American relations with Russia or Wallace's own future in the cabinet.

Mr. Truman did, however, act swiftly to make public a joint army-navy declaration that this country has no thought of making war on the Soviet Union.

While Secretary of State Byrnes, whose policies have been the target of Wallace's criticism, maintained his silence in Paris, Secretary of War Patterson and Navy Secretary Forrestal became the latest to jump into the air.

In a letter to Mr. Truman which the Chief Executive made public last night shortly after he ended his two hour and 23-minute conference with Wallace, Patterson and Forrestal denounced as untrue a Wallace charge that one "school of military thinking" advocates a "preventive war" against Russia before Russia makes atomic bombs.

Release of the letter was widely regarded as a gesture to reassure the Kremlin of America's peaceful intentions toward the Soviet Union.

As for the public debate over relations with Russia which Wallace began in New York last Thursday, the secretary himself made clear that he had yielded only temporarily to the President's efforts to silence him. The Paris conference is tentatively slated to end October 15, and Wallace presumably is holding his fire only until that time.

Would Avoid Embarrassment The generally assumed purpose of the temporary arrangement is to avoid embarrassing Byrnes in his dealings with Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov and others at Paris. If the conference ends on schedule, Wallace still will have three weeks before the November 5 congressional elections in which to carry his cause to the American voters.

Meanwhile, the capital awaited some indication from Byrnes whether he is satisfied with the compromise settlement in contrast with Mr. Truman's reported plan earlier to give Wallace only the choice of shutting up on foreign policy altogether or leaving the cabinet.

The compromise decision was announced by the commerce secretary late yesterday as he left his long meeting with Mr. Truman.

He read to several score newsmen jammed about him in the White House lobby these words: "I have scribbled on a sheet of paper:

"The President and the secretary of Commerce had a most detailed and friendly discussion, after which the secretary reached the conclusion he would make no public statement or speeches until the Foreign Ministers Conference in Paris is concluded."

Under a barrage of questions as he edged toward the door and his official limousine, Wallace also said that:

By the foreign ministers conference he meant the peace conference.

President Truman "is very con-

Fly Puts N.M.U., Others on Parity

Arbitration Award Is Given; Asks Men Go To Work at Once

(By The Associated Press)

An arbitration award by James L. Fly in the case of the C.I.O. National Maritime Union today placed N.M.U. seamen and others on parity with A.F.L. ship personnel and provided what Fly described as an adequate basis for the immediate resumption of all shipping activities.

Fly's award was on collateral issues of a June 14 agreement which averted a nation-wide C.I.O. Maritime strike then. Operators and the union had agreed to accept his ruling.

Salary increases chiefly from $5 to $10 a month are provided by the award. The present wage scale for the N.M.U. seamen affected is $172.50 a month.

Fly said, as he announced the award in New York city, that he was requesting all seagoing personnel to return to work immediately and asserted there was no longer a cause for the paralysis of

Pupil on Woodstock Bus Gives Lead That May Involve Yonkers Boy as Driver of Car

Working on a lead uncovered during extensive questioning of the Kingston High School students involved in the automobile accident Tuesday on the Bearsville-Woodstock road, sheriff's office investigators said today they have established the identity of the driver of the car that allegedly left the scene of the accident.

The driver is alleged to be Allen Wycroft, 16, of Yonkers, who was driving his father's car on a one-day trip to Woodstock-Bearsville area.

The break in the case came when one of the students, after exhaustive questioning, admitted that he recognized another youth riding with Wycroft as Albert Summerville, 17, son of William Summerville, 27, also of Yonkers.

A message was flashed to the Yonkers police who immediately questioned Summerville and the latter admitted that Wycroft was the driver of the car.

Efforts to contact Wycroft last night were unavailing. Wycroft's parents were reported away on vacation for a period of several days.

Authority Drafts Bill, Asks Action

Wicks, Hatfield Will Sponsor Bill Same as That of '46 Save for Finance Structure

Membership Campaign to Begin for Support of Bridge Bill

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, head of the New York State Senate Finance Committee and co-sponsor of the Wicks-Hatfield Bill in the 1946 legislature to provide a bridge between Kingston and Rhinecliff, announced today that a second bill is ready for submission to the legislature.

The 1946 measure, which was passed unanimously by both houses of the legislature, was vetoed by Governor Thomas Dewey with the notation that he thought certain financial clauses might, in the present conditions, stand amendment.

Senator Wicks said he attended a meeting of the State Bridge Authority yesterday in Poughkeepsie at the invitation of Chairman Robert Hoe. Also present were Senator Frederic H. Bontecou, Assemblyman Ernest I. Hatfield of Dutchess county and Assemblyman John Wadlin of Ulster county.

Few Changes Made

Senator Wicks said the legislators present found the Bridge Authority bill very satisfactory.

The measure, drawn by appointment of Governor Dewey, is identical to the original Wicks-Hatfield bill, except for changes in the financial structure.

The bill will be introduced in the legislature by Senator Wicks and Assemblyman Hatfield and will be known as the Wicks-Hatfield measure. The Bridge Authority in its bill recognizes the necessity for the Kingston-Rhinecliff span and recommends its erection.

Senator Wicks asked the Bridge Authority how soon the work on the bridge would start, provided it meets Governor Dewey's anticipated approval, and the answer was, "immediately."

Chairman Hoe said engineers would begin borings for locations and bridge engineers would draw plans and specifications for the taking of bids and the letting of contracts.

Members of the New York State Bridge Authority, in addition to Chairman Hoe, are James F. Loughran, of Kingston, and Dr. John L. Edwards, of Hudson.

Area Committee Meets

Plans for general membership campaign for the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Committee were formulated at a meeting of the steering committee held yesterday at the Pleasant Valley Inn.

George E. Yerry Jr., of Kingston, and Louis Winne, of Rhinebeck, were designated co-chairmen of the general publicity committee. Mr. Yerry will conduct the publicity drive in Ulster county and Mr. Winne will serve in Dutchess county.

Campaign chairman recommended were Richard C. Murray of Rhinebeck and Edward Huben of Kingston. The committee felt that the selections were the best possible choices the group could make.

Mr. Murray has been actively identified with the Dutchess County Fair Association, while Mr. Huben's organizational talents are well known in Ulster.

Meeting Is Scheduled

A meeting of district leaders has been scheduled for Kingston on Monday, September 30 to launch the membership drive in Ulster county. Two other meetings are planned in the Kerhonkson-Ellenville and Saugerties-Woodstock areas.

It was decided to give a membership card and label button to all persons who enroll in the drive. The campaign will embrace the area in Dutchess county as far east as Millerton, northward to Red Hook and as far south as Pawling. In Ulster county, Ellenville will be the southwestern anchor and northward the drive will extend to the county limits. Members will be sought in all districts.

New York, Sept. 19 (P)—Wreckage of the Sabena plane, which had been reported missing with 44 persons aboard near Gandar, Newfoundland, has been located and there are "some survivors," the company announced at LaGuardia Field today.

The statement released through Pan-American offices at the airport, said that the company had been advised in New York "approximately at 11 o'clock this morning" by the "Newfoundland civil aviation authorities that wreckage of the OOCBG (Sabena DC-4 plane license) was discovered 22 miles southwest of Gandar."

The statement added: "There were some survivors and a rescue party was proceeding immediately" to the scene.

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—Terence A. Shone, 52, British Minister to Syria and Lebanon, has been selected as high commissioner for the United Kingdom in India, a new post with duties similar to those of high commissioner for British Dominions.

Prime Minister Attlee's announcement of Shone's appointment reflected British hopes that India eventually would accept 27 years of experience at posts of dominion status rather than full independence when the constituent grade and Cairo, takes over his new duties in November. He will be concerned principally with maintaining economic and financial relations between the United Kingdom and India. His duties will not conflict with those of ident about peace with Russia."

Ross Is Present

The only other person at the meeting between himself and the President was Charles C. Ross, White House press secretary.

The President did not raise the question of his resignation. He still stands "absolutely" on his foreign policy speech in New York last Thursday night, which marked the public opening of his campaign for a change in American policy toward Russia.

As to whether he intends definitely to break his silence once the Paris meeting ends, his dictated statement "is sufficient for the moment."

Asked specifically what led to his decision to give up his public campaign temporarily, Wallace replied: "The fact that I am an honest man." Some who heard this assumed that he meant he preferred silence to having his speeches censored by the White House or the State Department.

As a result of the decision Wallace canceled his scheduled speech next Tuesday in Providence, R. I., and also an earlier radio speech which he had planned to make specifically on foreign policy. He also had planned to make a dozen or more speeches for the Democratic National Committee.

'Everything Lovely'

After he returned from the White House to the Commerce Department, the only comment Wallace would make to reporters was that "everything's lovely."

In none of his brief encounters with newsmen did the tousle-haired secretary appear downcast or discouraged. The prevalent opinion in Washington appeared to be that Wallace believed he was making good progress toward his objective of forcing a national debate on American diplomacy.

The agreement he made with President Truman was being examined for probable impact in three major fields of the government with these tentative conclusions evidence among some officials:

Domestic politics—By keeping Wallace in the cabinet even under temporary wraps Mr. Truman may succeed in binding to the Democratic party at least some voters among those who look to the commerce secretary for leadership.

Foreign policy—The extent to which Mr. Truman may share some of Wallace's views on foreign policy and the extent to which those views may influence the future development of American diplomacy remains uncertain. Wallace's continued presence in the cabinet gives his arguments an authority they would not have if he were outside the government.

Cabinet harmony—The silencing agreement leaves unresolved the cabinet dissension directly involving Wallace and Byrnes. To this in fact must now be added the outspoken assertions by Secretaries Patterson and Forrestal.

The World Today

By GLENN BABB

A. P. Foreign News Analyst

The anniversary of one of history's turning points slipped by almost unnoticed yesterday. The world is sufficed with anniversaries recalling tragic and bloody events, and dread of more to come turns men's eyes to the anxious future rather than the past.

But it was on September 18, 1931, that the Japanese Army launched its conquest of Manchuria, thereby ushering in the most terrible 15 years in the human story. Historians a century hence may debate whether the Second World War should be dated from Japan's 1931 blow at World peace or Hitler's losing his armies on Poland September 1, 1939.

The Japanese adventure constituted the first major blow struck by a great power at the world order established after the conflict of 1914-18. It showed the way to Mussolini in Ethiopia and Hitler in Czechoslovakia and Poland. It set the Japanese nation, with the militarists in the saddle, on a course that led almost inevitably to Pearl Harbor and the destruction of Japan as a major power.

The Japanese called that 1931 affair "the Mukden Incident," since it was on the outskirts of that historic Manchurian city that the first shots were fired. The Japanese claimed they had caught Chinese soldiers tampering with the Japanese-owned South Manchurian Railway and had to fire on them. Outside Japan the general belief was that the Japanese Army had manufactured an incident to excuse the launching of a carefully laid plan of conquest. At any rate the conquest became a fact within the next few months.

Once again Mukden is the center of warlike developments and Manchuria is a battleground. Despite the continuing efforts of American peacemakers, China's civil war is rising to new heights of ferocity and the chances of negotiated peace are fading. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's own chief of staff, Gen. Chen Cheng, has arrived at Mukden fresh from conferences with his master at the summer capital, Kuling, and both Nationalists and Chinese Communists say that this presages an all out Nationalist campaign to destroy the Communist hold in Manchuria, the richest prize of the conflict.

The objectives of the Nationalist campaign are the same as those of the Japanese in 1931 and the succeeding years of Japanese-Chinese war. Harbin and northern Manchuria, Kalgan and Inner Mongolia. The first strategic aim appears to be to drive a wedge between the Communists who still hold most of Manchuria and Yen'an the Communist capital in Shensi several hundred miles to the west. Whether such a slicing of communications would prove a mortal blow to the Communists is doubtful. Their armies live largely off the country. The war production of the Yen'an area is not significant. And the Manchurian Communists doubtless will fight to the end to maintain themselves in the northern provinces adjacent to a friendly Communist power, Soviet Russia.

The Soviet armies have been withdrawn from Manchuria and as far as the evidence goes Russia is maintaining a correct neutrality toward the Chinese strife. Nevertheless the struggle in China is one phase of the worldwide contest between the Communist and democratic nations, and it is difficult to see how long it can continue long without producing repercussions far beyond China's borders.

40-Story Office Building, Parking Planned for N. Y.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Plans for a $125,000,000 development, including a 40-story office building and parking space for 10,000 cars, have been disclosed for east midtown Manhattan by a real estate firm which yesterday paid $10,000,000 for a large part of the Hoboken, N. J., waterfront. The New York development would be from 41st to 49th streets between East avenue and the East river. Plans were unfolded before a City Board of Estimate meeting yesterday.

Farther, the same company, the New York Realty Investment Firm of Webb and Knapp, Inc., and the Hoboken Land and Improvement Co., concluded a $10,000,000 cash deal in which almost the entire waterfront area of Hoboken and other property in Weehawken, Hoboken and Jersey City changed ownership.

Included were 12 piers, 50 buildings and the tracks and warehouse of the Hoboken Manufacturers Railroad.

City Clergyman Is Guest Speaker For Centennial

Rev. John Pemberton Will Talk on September 29 to South Bethlehem Methodists

One of the speakers on the program for the centennial celebration of the South Bethlehem Methodist Church will be the Rev. John Pemberton, Jr., superintendent of the Kingston district.

The Rev. Mr. Pemberton is scheduled to speak at the Bethlehem church Sunday, September 29, during the 11 a. m. services. Observation of the centennial jubilee will extend throughout the week from September 22 to 29.

Program for the celebration is as follows: Sunday, September 22, 11 a. m. anniversary sermon "The Church in the World Today" by the pastor, the Rev. Herbert W. Hahn. Special music by the choir.

Thursday, September 26, 5 to 7 p. m. anniversary supper at the church. At the schoolhouse 8 p. m. lighting of the anniversary cake, anniversary pageant, greeting by former pastors.

Sunday, September 29, 11 a. m. anniversary memorial service. Prayer by the Rev. William H. Moser. Guest speaker, the Rev. John Pemberton, Jr., superintendent of the Kingston district. Special music by the choir. Sacred concert 4 to 5 p. m. by J. Reid Callanan and members of the West Minister Church choir of Albany. Tea in the Sunday school room 5 to 7 p. m. Everyone welcome.

Sunday, September 29, 7:30. Neighboring Pastors' Night. Greeting by all pastors present. Brief message by the Rev. W. R. Moser. Guest speaker, the Rev. William H. Moser, who was pastor of this church 50 years ago, music by the choir.

The South Bethlehem Methodist Church is the outgrowth of the Old Stone Church, the first Methodist Church west of the Hudson river. Many of the outstanding figures of early Methodism preached in the Old Stone Church, among them being Francis Asbury, the pioneer Methodist Bishop in America. Asbury's journal records that one visit he preached to 1,000 persons.

The present edifice was dedicated in 1946. When it was erected the South Bethlehem Methodist Church belonged to the Coeymans circuit which embraced the territory now covered by South Bethlehem, Coeymans, Coeymans Hollow, Ravena, Dormansville, Greenville, Norton Hill, and Coxsack charges. These churches were later separated from this circuit and formed into charges of their own.

Rev. R. S. Gaenzle Speaks at Lutheran Convention Start

One hundred fifty clerical and lay delegates gathered at Christ Lutheran Church, Ghent, N. Y., Wednesday, for the fall convention of the Eastern Conference of the United Lutheran Synod of New York.

Officiating at the opening service of holy communion were the Rev. Dayton Van Deusen, Center Brunswick, N. Y., and the Rev. Harold Gietz, Chatham, N. Y., with the president of the conference, the Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle of Kingston, delivering the sermon, on the subject of "Counting the Cost of Discipleship." Vigorously denouncing the lack of understanding of the meaning of church membership, he asserted, "Joining the church is made to appear so easy and natural that it contributes nothing toward disturbing one's established way of life—now a man joins the church and scarcely feels it."

A choir of pastors from the Capital District Lutheran Pastors Association, under the leadership of the Rev. Charles E. Driscoll, Germantown, led in the singing of "The Service, this being their initial appearance."

The Rev. Dr. Frederick R. Knobel, president of the United Lutheran Synod of New York, in addressing the convention touched upon the acute shortage of ministers, which he emphasized by saying, "There are now 17 congregations in the Synod without pastors while only eight new men are expected to be ordained to the ministry in the coming year." In closing, Dr. Knobel pointed out that fear has nullified putting into practice the command of Jesus to "Love thine enemies," and therefore declared that, "The foreign policy of the Lutheran Church should be to love thine enemies with the perfect love that casteth out fear."

The convention was closed with an evening session at which time the Rev. Ray E. Kulman, Saugerties pastor, recently called to part-time directorship of social mission work, fired the opening gun in a campaign to reclaim the lapsed members of the church.

A. J. Slawson Ordained As Elder at Shokan

Shokan, Sept. 19—The average attendance at the Olive and Hurley O. S. Baptist Church Association last week was 100 persons of whom 10 were elders of the sect. Elders coming the longest distance were George Ruston of Canada and Everett Jones of North Carolina. It was the largest group of Baptist preachers ever assembled in the 90-year-old meeting house. Rooms and luncheons for the visiting church people were found at various homes in this section. One departure from an old custom was the decision by the entertainment committee not to serve lunch and refreshments in the church pavilion.

Friday morning the impressive ceremony connected with the ordination of Amasa J. Slawson of Kingston as an elder in the church took place. This provided moments so gripping in emotional intensity that it is said there was scarce a "dry eye in the congregation." The new elder is a native of the town of Roxbury and is married to a former Shokan girl, Edith Secor, whose forebears worshipped here for more than a century. Elder Slawson is scheduled to preach at Lexington, Greene county, Sunday, September 22.

Births Recorded

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Starr of Marlinton, a son, Stephen Douglas, in Benedictine Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Richard I. Basch of 69 Hasbrouck avenue, a son, Saul Louis, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Kelly of 29 West Chester street, a son, Philip Martin, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Van Finch of 161 Hasbrouck avenue, a son, Ronald Harvey, in Benedictine Hospital.

Rats Outfox Toads

The giant toad, imported to Queensland, Australia, to rid cornfields of insect pests, has an enemy in the white-tailed bush rat. By gnawing the toad's throats, the rats avoid poison sacs in the back of the toad's heads, and make certain of the kill.

Speaker for Scout Victory Meeting

C. W. STICKLE, OF F.B.I.

Walter Caunitz, finance chairman for the Kingston district Boy Scout campaign, reported today that he had been successful in securing an added attraction for tonight's Victory meeting. Special Agent C. W. Stickle, of the F. B. I. Agent Stickle, himself a former Eagle Scout, has proven to be an outstanding dinner speaker in the New York area and is in considerable demand in metropolitan

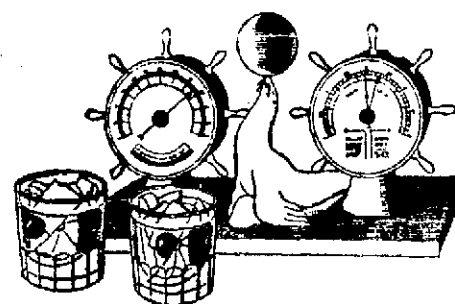

New York. He was appointed a special agent of the F. B. I. in December of 1940 and has been assigned to the Richmond, Detroit, and New York field offices. At the present time, he is a field supervisor in the New York city office. A graduate of Union College, he also holds an L.L.B. Degree from Albany Law School.

Mr. Caunitz, in announcing the acceptance of the invitation of Mr. Stickle made the observation that he was very optimistic as to the final report which will be given at the Victory meeting. He was quite confident that there can be no question as to the Kingston district meeting, its goal. All of the community and ward chairmen, captains, and campaigners have been invited to attend this Victory meeting. After the reports are given, the ladies auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. will serve refreshments.

S.P.C.A. Takes Action

Boston, Sept. 19.—The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals prepared today to cross striking seamen's picket lines to remove 25 valuable horses—Irish jumpers and racers—from the SS American Forwarder. The society reported that three of the animals were ill and the others were nervous from their long stay aboard ship. Eric Hansen, president of the society, said longshoremen of both the A.L.U. and C.I.O. maritime unions had refused to move the animals because of the strike.

Rhubarb was introduced into western Europe from Russia in the 16th century.

Put All the Blame On O.P.A. Prices For Meat Shortage

Feed Says Only Relief Will Come When Public Puts in Congress That Cuts Bureaus

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Unemployment mounted today in New York's meat packing plants and industry spokesmen, attributing the shortage to the restoration of O.P.A. meat price ceilings, were pessimistic about the future.

Plants were closed in many places. Other plants were about to close or else were operating below capacity.

Butchers foresaw a rapid reduction of unemployment to meat markets.

C. F. House, market news analyst for the U. S. Department of Agriculture said the meat supply in New York city was the lowest in history. Several packing plants were closed in the metropolitan area.

Update, supplies had reached the bottom of the barrel, a survey showed.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed, Dunkirk, N. Y., charged the O.P.A. with "endeavoring to get complete control of the packing industry."

He asserted "there will be no relief from shortages until an important public elects a congress with a stiff enough spine to resist bureaucratic domination through propaganda paid for by taxpayers."

Music and Romance Flourished in Early Days

Shaken, Sept. 19—The Musical Association of Olive met in the Baptist meeting house in the old village of Olive and also enjoyed a picnic near the home of Jacob Delamater September 18, 1852, at this place of worship at the Delamater's, along the south side of the Plank road, was the second time to be used by Olive, Hurley and Marbletown Baptists. They were, for the most part, of New England descent and their meeting house had been located at Olive city.

The musical association, or singing society, was one of the live organizations here in ante-bellum days. A number of musical-minded persons (and who was not in those times?) adopted a constitution and set of by-laws on June 8, 1853. Article 6 of the laws was doubtless intended to discourage any frivolous persons from joining up provided that "all members both male and female shall learn the rudiments of music as a condition of membership."

The singing schools were held every two weeks at "early candle light" in schoolhouses, homes, churches and tavern ball rooms. Members went all out in the use of good music, and their devotion so warmed them that there was no thought of discontent in a moonlight sleighing party to Stone Ridge or Bloomfield to attend a song-fest. The dues were a dollar a year and the fee for absence six cents. Expenses were light considering the rewards in pleasure and profit that accrued to the faithful: Postage on musical review, $2.16; one dozen Dulcimers, $6, four Reeds, $3; 13 lbs. candles, $1.87½. Total expenses for many a singing school.

Best thing of all about the old singing schools was the wealth of opportunity they provided for Dan Cupid to ply his ancient and honorable trade among the young folks of the early families. It was at singing school that scions of the Goodhead, Crispell, DuBois, Holter, Winchell, Merrihew, Davis, Krom, Brown, Coons, Kelley, Longyear, Hull, Markle, Salce, Hill, Delamater, Ennist, Bardin, VanDeMark, Bardin, Schup and other early-up-county families found themselves on a romantic as well as a musical date. The main idea, however, was "music" while the by-laws said so. Still, the indefatigable Dan knew his way around, and 94 years ago!

In China, the name of Santa Claus is Lao Kioong, which means nice old man.

Chief Mains Says All of Building Was Not Destroyed

In a statement to The Freeman today, Fire Chief Harry Mains, of the Esopus Fire Department, said that in the recent fire at "Club 21" on 9-W, the tap room of the night club was burned quite badly, but the rest of the structure escaped serious damage.

Mr. Mains points out that the state trooper's report published in The Freeman the day after the fire gave the impression that the entire structure was gutted.

The Esopus fire department received a call from the state police at Highland at 5:30 a. m. the morning of the fire and had the fire under control by 6 a. m. and completely extinguished by 7 o'clock.

A motor-driven device has been developed to turn book pages for crippled veterans.

The dispute settled in accordance with established labor practices. He said there was no indication that such a procedure had been followed.

It was learned unofficially this morning that a report had been circulated that if the carpenters were put back to work, the laborers could return. This report was later denied.

Mayor Not Mediator

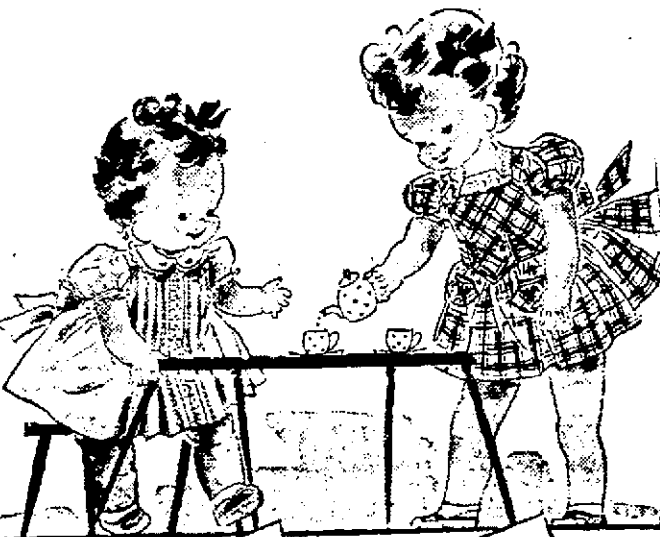

A group of uptown merchants concerned over the repeated delays in the project were reported to have consulted with Mayor William F. Edelmutt this morning in an effort to bring the opposing factions together. The mayor, however, is not acting as a mediator in the dispute.

Chou Says Policy Of U. S. and China Hints Russo War

to render an account to the world and to the Chinese people. However, the Communist party has not yet contemplated placing the case before the United Nations."

States His Attitude

Chou said he would return to Nanking to resume peace negotiations only if Chiang Kai-Shek agrees to reconvene the military committee of three—General Marshall and Chinese government and Communist representatives.

The committee was set up in January in an effort to effect a truce in China's civil strife but has been impotent since June because of Kuomintang (government party) Communist differences.

Negotiations 'Senseless'

Chou termed the Nanking negotiations "senseless" and said they were designed "to camouflage the true civil war situation and black out the truth from the American and Chinese peoples."

He said U. S. policy in China has resulted in a military situation "of the full stature of nationwide civil war." He reiterated that the Communists would fight regardless of the amount of U. S. assistance to the Kuomintang.

"The Communists will fight even though they lose Kalgan, Hardin and Kwayin, as well as major rail communications. They never will surrender to the Kuomintang."

Mine Blast Reported

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines said today it had been notified of an explosion in a coal mine at McCoy, Va. Daniel Harrington, chief of the bureau's health and safety branch, reported a phone call from the scene said approximately 50 men were in the workings.

Many Truckers Working

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Leaders of striking A.F.L. teamsters unions reported today that approximately 40 per cent of trucking employers had signed individual agreements embodying a new wage formula. John E. Strong, president of Local 807 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said that 4,715 members of his union and the two other striking locals—282 and 816—already had gone back to work. This represented 41 per cent of those involved in the 18-day-old strike, he added.

The man had been haled into court for keeping a dog without a license. Every time he tried to speak he was silenced by the clerk. Finally, the clerk demanded:—Is the court to understand you refuse to renew the license?

Defendant—Yes, but — Clerk interrupting and snapping—No buts. You know your old license expired on June 30th. Defendant (sweating)—I know, and so did the dog.

Mrs. Brown frowned when she opened the door to a caller with a dog on a leash:—Mrs. Brown (requesting)—I'd much rather you didn't bring your dog into the house, it's full of fleas. Caller (shockingly)—Goodness! I'll certainly not bring the little pet in then. I had no idea you let your house get in such condition.

Self Confidence Self confidence is the touchstone of accomplishment. He who would accomplish great things must toughen his hide to the darts of criticism. A great deal of criticism is prompted by envy, dislike or other unworthy motives. Criticism that is well intended and founded on understanding of our purposes should be welcomed. The other kind should be allowed to pass off, as water runs off a duck's back. We should never be afraid to attempt things because of the criticism we know will be leveled at us. It is better to fail than to quail.

Veterans Get Preference at Utica Tuition Free—Will Accommodate 500 Students

By HARRY O'DONNELL
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—The State School of Industrial and Labor Relations is planning the first state school of retail management and store management courses. The school will be housed in the former Country Day School at suburban New Hartford.

The course will be offered at the Utica Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences, one of five state technical institutes to be opened on a five-year, experimental basis.

The school will have a maximum enrollment of 500 students. Tuition is free to state residents and $300 to out-of-state students. The institute, which is co-educational, is scheduled to open October 1.

The curriculum includes all phases of retailing, it not only will teach fundamental mechanics and techniques but courses in specialized adjuncts such as communications, public speaking, public and employee relations, advertising, economics and finance, government and citizenship and community responsibilities.

There will be "some general education," including basic English, but emphasis will be on merchandising and selling.

Higher Proficiency Level
Paul B. Richardson, director of the Utica school, says graduates will be prepared to enter the retail trade as employees on a higher proficiency level, thus being in a position to command better salaries, or to go into business for themselves.

Richardson expects that the institute will be able to interest various retail trade associations in providing scholarships and assistance for selected personnel.

Richardson, supervisor of the State Education Department's Bureau of Business Education for the past five years, says the Utica school is the first of its kind, at its level, to be operated by a state.

The 1945 legislature authorized five institutes and appropriated $3,000,000 for their establishment at Utica, Buffalo, Binghamton, White Plains and New York City with an enrollment, capacity of 4,500 fulltime students and 9,000 parttime.

The legislature specified that Utica Institute have a division solely for technical study and training in retail business management. The school also will have courses in mechanical, electrical and textile technology.

Will Offer Courses
The other institutes will offer

Industrial and technical courses. Registrants must be high school graduates but eventually, Richardson expects special students, who are not high school graduates, will be admitted. They will not be eligible for the two-year diplomas.

The school will be housed in the former Country Day School at suburban New Hartford. Retailing classes probably will be conducted at the army's former Rhoads General Hospital. Richardson expects about 90 per cent of the enrollment to be in retailing.

Siege of Tating Reported Broken

Wanking, Sept. 19 (AP)—Government military sources said today the Communists' two months siege of strategic Tating definitely is broken. They reported relief had reached the area of Fengcheng, about 20 miles to the north, and the Tating garrison had smashed the Communist ring and recaptured a railway station north of the city.

These sources said the Communists, retreating from Tating, were applying a scorched earth policy, burning everything they were unable to carry.

In northern Kiangsu Province, said dispatches received here, street fighting continued in Huaitin, former Communist provincial military headquarters. The Reds were reported to be rushing 30,000 reinforcements from a point about 175 miles south.

Bureau Is Formed

Montreal, Sept. 19 (AP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, has announced the formation of a N.H.L. Information Bureau in Montreal to assist sports writers, radio commentators and the hockey public in general. Kenneth W. McKenzie, former Winnipeg and Montreal sports writer, will be in charge.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By TOM REEDY
(For Hal Boyle)
Frankfurt, Germany, (AP)—German children are learning to sing "The Star Spangled Banner." It's tough going, but they are trying.

Air Force officers have added a German version of the U. S. national anthem to recreation courses for German youth, sandwiching the songsters between baseball and football.

As a substitute for some of the songs the German boys and girls used to sing, the anthem presents some problems. Where it fits the music in English with ten short words for the first line "Oh, say can you see" it comes out in German.

"Oh, sag, kannst du beim licht des fruhen morgenrots sehen" and what started out to be "what so proudly we hailed by the twilight's last gleaming" comes out:

"Was so stolz wir gruessten waehrend des zwielichts letztem schimmer."

The American flag flies over the fields as the children sing the anthem.

Gives Orders on Programs

Lieut. Bob Metzger, Natchez, Miss., was the first to try the stunt in his classes for several hundred children at Furth Air Force base. The idea has caught on in other air force installations which led the way in conducting programs for German youth.

General Joseph T. McNarney, American commander-in-chief in Germany, recently instructed all units to conduct similar programs. One of the general's close associates said that the next step would be an order making it compulsory for all Americans in the theater to make some contribution of time and effort toward educating German youth.

Metzger said the job difficult but certainly not impossible despite all the propaganda about Hitler's influence on the younger generation.

Plans Ready Soon On Senate House Renovation Job

Plans for the restoration of the Senate House on Clinton avenue will be completed shortly and will then be in shape for the letting of the contract for the work. The restoration work will be done under the direction of the New York State Department of Public Works. When plans are completed and in shape for soliciting bids, advertisements will be placed seeking contractor bids for the work.

Some time ago it was announced that the Senate House would be restored as nearly as possible to its original state and the preparation of such plans is now about completed. The restoration plan is for the old stone Senate House and will not include work in the Senate House museum building which is a modern structure.

Equipment Problem

The biggest problem is equipment—shoes, bats, balls and the like. Metzger suggested that just a fraction of the millions still tied up in Hitler Jugend funds would solve the problem. How to "unfreeze" that sum or any part of it is another question.

The lieutenant started his program as a special service assignment months ago and decided that the first thing to do would be to ask Baldu von Schirach, Hitler Jugend creator, by letter sent through his attorney to the Nuremberg jail, how to go about it.

Von Schirach, on trial with other Nazi bigwigs, sent back word: "I had them for ten years. Let's see what you can do with them."

Said Metzger: "I think we can fool that guy. These are good kids."

Expert Services Available at Veterans Administration Office Here

John A. Porter Ready to Serve All Local Vets

Itinerant Office Located at Saugerties Now; Prosthetic Work One of Largest Fields

Hundreds of Ulster county's ex-G.I.'s are beginning to realize the expert services available at the Kingston office of the United States Veterans Administration at 286 Fair street.

Formerly located in the U.S.E.S. building on Fair street, the local branch of the Veterans Administration recently moved to better quarters at 286 Fair street and has been conducting an increasing volume of transactions since then.

Staid-looking John A. Porter is the contact representative of the V.A., who operates the uptown office, and a good one. Mr. Porter speaks the G.I.'s language and knows their problems because he's been identified with V.A. as a soldier and private citizen.

A graduate of St. John's University in Brooklyn, Mr. Porter was taken from the reserve list in 1942 and shortly after assuming active duty, he was assigned to Fort Niagara. Then came successive assignments to Pine Camp, the Veterans Administration Hospital at Northampton, Long Island, the V.A. Hospital at the Bronx and more recently at the Castle Point hospital. He was discharged from service in February of 1946.

Although he was commissioned as a lieutenant in infantry, Mr. Porter spent most of his Army career in V.A.-controlled operations. He gained a wealth of first-hand experience of V.A. problems that make him one of the better contact representatives in the state setup.

The local office works under the jurisdiction of the regional office at Albany, although actually it is a sub-regional office to Poughkeepsie. It is the only veterans

Veteran Seeks Advice From V. A.

Vincent McDonough, of Kingston, one of the most interesting prosthetic cases in Ulster county, explains his case to John A. Porter, contact representative of the Veterans Administration, at the Kingston office, 286 Fair street. Mr. Porter is an able counselor and advisor on problems affecting wounded and disabled veterans and is the only direct contact with the V.A. (Freeman Photo) service bureau in the city that has direct contact with the Veterans Administration.

Mr. Porter's civilian assignments changed rapidly. He started at the New York regional office, then transferred to Poughkeepsie. His third stop was in Kingston where in a short time the former basic training instructor built up a large following of veterans seeking advice on the multiple services of the Veterans Administration.

An itinerant office has been established in Saugerties and Mr. Porter will be there every Friday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. The Kingston office hours are 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. Mrs. Audrey Rightmeyer, of Saugerties, is secretary at the local office.

Like most Veterans Administration representatives Mr. Porter feels that the average ex-G.I. isn't aggressive enough in establishing the merits of his case. Many delay too long in making application, others do not seek the proper information while many others actually do not realize the rights to which they are entitled.

Prosthetic Work

The prosthetic work (that concerning persons with artificial limbs) of the Veterans Administration is perhaps one of the largest fields handled by contact representatives. Mr. Porter reports that there is voluminous material on the subject available at all times at the uptown office. At the present time the Kingston office is processing veterans eligible for prosthetic cards for amputees. These cards may be turned into any appliance company for repairs up to $35 and this repair service is paid for by the Veterans Administration.

The Veterans Administration is always deeply concerned with its prosthetic cases, the amputees and others whom the rigors of war have left handicapped for the remainder of their lives. The V.A. pays particular attention to this type of case and places a high priority on processing of papers. Eligibles in this field will find Mr. Porter a sympathetic representative.

One of the most recently announced policies deals with the estimated 2,400 disabled state veterans who are eligible to obtain specially equipped automobiles at government expense. Eligible are veterans who have lost one or both legs at or above the ankle or who have lost the use of one or both legs are eligible to receive automobiles, station wagons, jeeps, trucks, tractors et cetera, the cost of the vehicle not to exceed $1,600. Mr. Porter is the man with the answer to a thousand questions any ex-G.I. can throw at him, relating to insurance, back pay, terminal leave pay, disability. In fact you can ask him anything pertaining to veterans problems and Mr. Porter can come up with the answer. If he doesn't have it at the moment, you won't be kept waiting too long.

Store Management Course to Begin As State Project

Veterans Get Preference at Utica Tuition Free; Will Accommodate 500 Students

By HARRY O'DONNELL
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—New York, already pioneering the first state school for industrial and labor relations, inaugurates another educational experiment this fall—a state-operated institution with a two-year, post-high school course in retail management.

The course will be offered at the Utica Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences, one of five state technical institutes to be opened on a five-year, experimental basis. The legislature has fixed an enrollment maximum of 500 at Utica. Tuition is free to state residents and $300 to out-of-state students. The institute, which is co-educational, is scheduled to open October 1.

The curriculum includes all phases of retailing. It not only will teach fundamental mechanics and techniques but courses in specialized adjuncts such as communications skills, public speaking, public and employee-employer relations, advertising, economics and financing, government and citizenship and community responsibilities.

There will be "some general education," including basic English, but emphasis will be on merchandising and selling.

Higher Proficiency Level
Paul B. Richardson, director of the Utica school, says graduates will be prepared to enter the retail trades as employees on a higher proficiency level, thus being in a position to command better salaries, or to go into business for themselves.

Richardson expects that the institute will be able to interest various retail trade associations in providing scholarships and assistance for selected personnel.

Richardson, supervisor of the State Education Department's Bureau of Vocational Education for the past five years, says the Utica school is the first of its kind, at its level, to be operated by a state. The 1945 legislature authorized five institutes and appropriated $3,000,000 for their establishment at Utica, Buffalo, Binghamton, White Plains and New York city with an enrollment capacity of 4,500 fulltime students and 9,000 parttime.

The legislature specified that Utica Institute have a division solely for technical study and training in retail business management. The school also will have courses in mechanical, electrical and textile technology.

Will Offer Courses
The other institutes will offer

industrial and technical courses. Registrants must be high school graduates but eventually, Richardson says, special students, who are not high school graduates, will be admitted. They will not be eligible for the two-year diplomas.

The Utica school will be housed in the former Country Day School at suburban New Hartford. Non-retailing classes probably will be conducted at the army's former Rhoads General Hospital. Richardson expects about 60 per cent of the enrollment to be in retailing.

The school will operate on a quarterly basis and students will spend one quarter on actual jobs in various retailing businesses throughout the state.

The State School of Industrial and Labor Relations was opened a year ago at Cornell University with applications far exceeding facilities. The program has been hailed by both labor and management as a long-range effort to promote better understanding in the field.

Siege of Tatum Reported Broken

Nanking, Sept. 19 (AP)—Government military sources said today the Communists' two months siege of strategic Tatum definitely is broken. They reported relief had reached the area of Fengcheng, about 20 miles to the north, and the Tatum garrison had smashed the Communist ring and recaptured a railway station north of the city.

These sources said the Communists, retreating from Tatum, were applying a scorched earth policy, burning everything they were unable to carry.

In northern Kiangsu Province, said dispatches received here, street fighting continued in Huaiyin, former Communist provincial military headquarters. The Reds were reported to be rushing 30,000 reinforcements from a point about 175 miles south.

Bureau Is Formed

Montreal, Sept. 19 (AP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, has announced the formation of a N.H.L. Information Bureau in Montreal to assist sports writers, radio commentators and the hockey public in general. Kenneth W. McKenzie, former Winnipeg and Montreal sports writer, will be in charge.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By TOM REEDY
(For Hal Boyle)

Frankfurt, Germany, (AP)—German children are learning to sing "The Star Spangled Banner." It's tough going, but they are trying. Air Force officers have added a German version of the U. S. national anthem to recreation courses for German youth, sandwiching the songstests between baseball and football.

As a substitute for some of the songs the German boys and girls used to sing, the anthem presents some problems. Where it fits the music in English with ten short words for the first line "Oh, say can you see" it comes out in German:

"Oh, sag, kannst du beim licht des freuen morgenrots sehen" and what started out to be "what so proudly we hailed by the twilight's last gleaming" comes out:

"Was so stolz wir gruessten waehrend des zwielichts letzten schimmers."

The American flag flies over the fields as the children sing the anthem.

Gives Orders on Programs
Lieut. Bob Metzger, Natchez, Miss., was the first to try the stunt in his classes for several hundred children at Furth Air Force base. The idea has caught on in other air force installations which led the way in conducting programs for German youth.

General Joseph T. McNarney, American commander-in-chief in Germany, recently instructed all units to conduct similar programs. One of the general's close associates said that the next step would be an order making it compulsory for all Americans in the theater to make some contribution of time and effort toward reeducating German youth.

Metzger said the job difficult but certainly not impossible despite all the propaganda about Hitler's influence on the younger generation.

Eliminates Trouble
"They aren't convinced yet we won the war," the Mississippian said frankly, "but they are willing to see what we are like. And the boys we have on the playing field see the very best Americans there are in Europe, the healthy, strong Americans who are not chasing around the streets getting into trouble.

"What's more, they get so tired playing the games we arrange in the early evenings that by nightfall they don't want to be on the streets themselves. So that keeps them out of trouble."

"The thing we have to watch is to make sure none of them are 'ordered' to play a game. They understand an order. That's what the Hitler jugend amounted to. This must be entirely voluntary, or we lose our entire effectiveness."

Equipment Problem

The biggest problem is equipment—shoes, bats, balls and the like. Metzger suggested that just a fraction of the millions still tied up in Hitler jugend funds would solve the problem. How to "unfreeze" that sum or any part of it is another question.

The lieutenant started his program as a special service assignment months ago and decided that the first thing to do would be to ask Baldur von Schirach, Hitler jugend creator, by letter sent through his attorney to the Nuernberg jail, how to go about it. Von Schirach, on trial with other Nazi bigwigs, sent back word: "I had them for ten years. Let's see what you can do with them."

Said Metzger: "I think we can fool that guy. These are good kids."

Plans Ready Soon On Senate House Renovation Job

Plans for the restoration of the Senate House on Clinton avenue will be completed shortly and will then be in shape for the letting of the contract for the work. The restoration work will be done under the direction of the New York State Department of Public Works. When plans are completed and in shape for soliciting bids, advertisements will be placed seeking contractor bids for the work.

Some time ago it was announced that the Senate House would be restored as nearly as possible to its original state and the preparation of such plans is now about completed. The restoration plan is for the old stone Senate House and will not include work in the Senate House museum building which is a modern structure.

Ground Party Takes Up Search for Man

Seattle, Sept. 19 (AP)—A naval ground party of 35 early today resumed search for the body of the eighth crew member of a PBV Amphibian plane which two Granite Falls high school boys and their principal found wrecked in the Cascade foothills, some 45 miles northeast of here yesterday. Seven bodies were found before darkness ended the hunt. Witnesses said the plane was torn to bits, with some debris festooned in the trees on the side of 500-foot Dolberg's Hill. The navy withheld names of the victims pending notification of relatives.

Health for AllHope for Hay Fever Victims

About five million Americans have taken new hope over the prospect of a cure for their common ailment—hay fever. These and other members of the handkerchief brigade whose allergies to pollen, dusts and foods cause them to suffer from hay fever, hives, eczema and certain kinds of asthma have found little relief in treatment—up to now. Treatments that were available were uncertain, inconvenient, expensive.

But allergy sufferers are apt to have one trait in common—they will try anything to relieve them of the sneezes, the burning throat, the running nose, the weeping eyes or whatever symptoms their own peculiar allergy chooses.

The promised relief lies in a new drug called anthallan. Careful tests indicate that anthallan is effective in most allergy cases regardless of cause. The drug is easy for the doctor to administer and is said to be entirely safe in reasonable doses.

The cause of most hay fever sufferers' misery is ragweed—a plant that seems to thrive in many sections of the country with no encouragement whatever. The pollen floats in the air almost everywhere from the middle of August until frost comes.

The annoying symptoms of hay fever result from the sensitiveness of the mucous membranes of the eyes, nose and upper respiratory tract to this pollen. Besides the well known and uncontrollable sneeze, itching, redness and swelling of the eyes and nose result from this sensitiveness.

Unfortunately, hay fever victims can be sensitive to more than one substance. Sometimes hay fever is complicated by sinusitis or asthma. Nor is all hay fever confined to the fall months. What is known as perennial hay fever may occur at any time and can be due to an allergy to any one or more of a long list of things including milk, eggs, house dust or your wife's dandruff.

Should anthallan prove to be the long-sought cure for hay fever it will relieve an increasing army of sufferers of what is said to be man's most common ailment except tooth decay.

Like all drugs used in the control of hay fever, anthallan must be taken only under the doctor's supervision.

In the next article, helping the TB patient meet his problems will be discussed.

Operation No Aid To Linsig Child Minus Esophagus

Robert Linsig, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Linsig of Marlborough, is reported recovering from an unsuccessful operation which it had been hoped would give him an esophagus fabricated from a piece of his small intestine. The operation was performed at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, Broadway and 168th street, New York.

usual food pipe from mouth to stomach, will have to continue taking his meals through a tube fitted into an aperture cut directly into his stomach.

Hospital authorities would not discuss the operation, of a new type, other than to say it had ended hope that Robert could swallow his food like a normal person.

Silver Tax Sought

Mexican silver miners have protested the present high tax of over 30 per cent of its cost, on silver production. The tax hits smaller producers particularly hard and the Government's Treasury Department has their petition under consideration.

Help Open Y.W.C.A. Campaign

Among those who assisted in officially opening the Y.W.C.A. financial campaign Wednesday night were from left, Mrs. Frederic Holcomb, chairman of the drive; Clifford L. Rall, principal of the Myron J. Michael School, and guest speaker at the opening dinner; Mrs. Herbert Fister, president of the local association, and Mrs. Clifford C. Rose, vice president of the association. (Freeman Photo)

Y.W. Campaign Is Opened at Dinner Activity Reviewed

Mrs. Herbert Fister Tells of Need for Funds; Rall Gives Main Address

The campaign to raise $10,000 for the Y.W.C.A. was officially opened Wednesday night at a dinner meeting for workers and captains at the "Y." Funds are needed this year to provide a more extensive program not only for the teen-age department but also for young women in order to make the local association a true fellowship center for all women of the city. The campaign will continue through September 30.

Activities Revived

ready organized at the Y.W.C.A. included contributions to the infantile paralysis and cancer funds. Volunteers of America and also entertainments for the Wassaca girls. Some of the younger girls have made favors for the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and others have visited the Home for the Aged.

During the present reconstruction period the clubs have contributed more than 20 cartons of clothing to be sent overseas and have made donations to the food emergency fund.

The Y.W.C.A. Camp, Triangle Acres, has completed its most successful season and in addition to the association's camp period the camp has been made available for several other organizations. Mrs. Fister also reported the fast growing teen-age department and the need for more facilities.

With generous support from the public a better program could be arranged. Plans are also being made to work with the young women employed in the factories.

Rall Gives Talk

Clifford L. Rall, new principal of the Myron J. Michael School gave the main talk of the evening to the workers for the campaign. Having worked in the Y.M.C.A. program in Albany, he recalled some personal experiences parallel to the task of the financial drive.

He emphasized the value which young men and young women receive in the fellowship of "Y" clubs. He also spoke of the value of instruction as in the swimming programs, leadership opportunities, and in aiding an underprivileged child to develop socially.

Speaking directly to the workers he said, "You are not going out to sell a vacuum cleaner or an electric iron but the opportunity of helping somebody else. Sometimes we forget what we have to do, we have to realize our values and know where we are going. We in our own hearts have to decide what is important to us." In closing he assured the workers of the value of the "Y."

program and encouraged each one to do her best toward the campaign.

Mrs. Fister also introduced Clarence Rowland, president of the Y.M.C.A. and Burton S. Tandy, executive director of the Y.M.C.A., both of whom encouraged the workers in their financial drive and promised cooperation of the Y.M. in planning programs for the coming season.

A letter of regret at not being able to be present for the opening of the campaign was read from Mayor William F. Edgemuth. The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation and benediction. Mrs. Raymond Rignall led the group in singing campaign songs.

Mrs. Frederic Holcomb, chairman of the drive, outlined the plan for the campaign which calls for a house to house canvass. The city has been divided according to wards. In this way $8,000 of the $10,000 quota is proportioned.

Quotas set for the wards are as follows:

First, $1,300; second, $1,000; third, $600; fourth, $400; fifth, $250; sixth, $200; seventh, $200; eighth, $500; ninth, $500; tenth, $1,150; eleventh, $600; twelfth, $900; thirteenth and county, $400. The remaining quota of $2,000 has been assigned to the executive board and board of trustees.

The dinner last evening was prepared and served by the hospitality committee under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Terwilliger, chairman. Girls from the teen-age clubs who assisted in the serving were the Misses Gertrude Magnino, Beverly Wetherbee, Joan Krueger, Helen Chino, Kathryn Reilly and Jacqueline Waples.

Five-Day, 37½-Hour Week Starts for State Employees

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—A five-day, 37½-hour work week was put into effect today for the state's 25,000 departmental employees. At the same time Governor Dewey's administration promised all state employees overtime pay after 40 hours, effective upon expected approval by the 1947 legislature.

The work week in departmental offices has been 36½ hours in 5½ days for many years. State Budget Director John E. Burton said in announcing the change. However, state employees have been on a five-day summer schedule.

Burton said the Dewey administration "is convinced that the five-day week will result in an equal or greater efficiency of government work."

He announced state offices would continue to be open Saturdays but would be staffed by skeleton forces, who will receive compensating time off.

Burton disclosed that Dewey will recommend to the next legislature that the basic maximum hours for basic salary be 40 hours over a 5-day period and that employees required to work longer than be given overtime pay, both in institutions and departmental offices.

Dorby Is Placed Under 'Your Maker'

Chicago, Sept. 19 (AP)—Dudley Dorby, 43, whose physical condition was described by a physician as such that he might die at any time, was placed on probation for two years "under the supervision of your maker" in forces, who will receive compensating time off.

Judge Julius H. Miner, before whom Dorby entered pleas of guilty to two charges of passing worthless checks, granted the probation after Dr. Meyer Levy, county jail physician, testified that Dorby is suffering from an incurable asthma case complicated by heart trouble.

Dorby, seated in a wheel chair, was told by Judge Miner that "God will have jurisdiction in this case."

DAZZLE

BRINGS SUNSHINE FRESHNESS

TO YOUR HOME

TRIPLE-FILTERED FOR EXTRA PURITY

Why take chances with "old-time" aids
when DAZZLE brings sunshine cleanliness to your home? It bleaches cottons and linens to snowy whiteness . . . disinfects kitchen and bathroom equipment . . .
brightens linoleum. And DAZZLE'S triple-filtering (for extra purity) makes you know it's clean!

• DISINFECTS • DEODORIZES

World Banking System Aims At Stabilizing Currencies

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The International Monetary Fund has been called the heart of the United Nations campaign to persuade the world to lay aside the weapons of economic warfare.

Unlike its more conservative companion, the International Bank, the fund is regarded as a daring and unprecedented approach to the problem of how to keep stabilized the national currencies of scores of countries.

Camille Gutt, the world-famous Belgian financier who will direct fund operations, believes it can and will stabilize fluctuating currencies in the world even though it may take years of patient effort.

Through use of its $8,800,000,000 treasury, Gutt thinks countries can be prevented from resorting to the monetary tricks that led to the vicious trade wars of the 1930's.

Economic Disarmament

In joining the fund, a country in effect pledges itself to economic disarmament. It promises to surrender some of its sovereign rights in economic matters in return for the protection and assistance of the fund.

At present 39 of the 44 countries who helped design the fund at Bretton Woods, N. H., more than two years ago are members. At least four others are seeking to join.

Russia Not In

Only Russia, among the major powers, is not yet a member, and it has until December 31 to enter under present rules. The United States is by far the largest contributor to the common pool with $2,750,000,000 as its subscription. Great Britain is next with $1,300,000,000.

Because its initial task—the setting of par values for each member government's currency—also is the most difficult, the fund will take longer to begin normal operations than the bank.

Some of these currency rates will be established within 90 days after the fund issues its first call, but member countries that were occupied by the enemy during the war have the right to ask for postponement of action on their money.

Once a country has defined the value of its currency in terms of gold, it must consult with the fund before making any changes in its parity.

Can Be Expelled

Any nation's currency may be varied a total of 10 per cent, either up or down, without the fund's approval, but the fund becomes the final judge of what the rate should be if the change exceeds 10 per cent. If a country refuses to heed the decision, it can be expelled.

The requirement that all members consult with a multi-nation fund first before altering the value of their currency is a new concept in international relations. It is based, however, on the realization that monetary changes anywhere are a matter of concern not only to the country involved but to the entire world because of the effects upon trade.

The second phase of the fund's task will begin when the currency rates of member countries, whose contributions equal 65 per cent of the institution's $8,800,000,000, have been set.

How It Will Work

From then on, the fund also will serve as a source of funds for countries temporarily short of foreign exchange needed to pay for current transactions. Here is an example of how it will work.

Suppose a country which normally exported agricultural products to Canada suffered a crop failure one year. Because it would earn considerably less Canadian dollars that year through its exports, it might not have enough Canadian money to pay for essential Canadian goods it wanted to buy.

Faced with such a situation, the country could go to the International Fund and borrow Canadian dollars which Canada had contributed when it joined. Next year, it might be able to repay the temporary loan from its exports.

The founders of the fund figured that with such assistance always at hand, countries experiencing temporary financial difficulties would not be tempted to manipulate their currencies as they did in pre-fund days, or to cut down on normal imports.

Image Protects Rome

Romans put great faith in the protective powers of a small fresco of the Virgin of the Divine Lord. During the last days of the battle for Rome, Italian authorities sought protection for the city by bringing the fresco in from its shrine, 15 miles away. Rome was liberated while it was there. Once again during the recent elections—a crucial moment in the nation's political life—the image was brought back to Rome, followed by pilgrims afoot. It was blessed by the Pope before being returned to its home church.

The earliest hand grenades weighed from two to six pounds.

GRANGE NEWS

Ulster Pomona Grange

Ulster County Pomona Grange held its quarterly meeting recently in Clintondale Grange hall, Vernon A. Barnhart, master presiding. William Leadbetter, deputy of Putnam-Westchester Pomona Grange, was welcomed.

Reports from subordinate Granges showed that all Granges in the county were very active and growing in membership.

The molasses cookie contest, sponsored by the American Agriculturist, was won by Mrs. L. C. Dixon of Hurley Grange. She will enter the state contest during the State Grange session at Saratoga Springs in December. Mrs. C. C. Hardenbergh of Stone Ridge Grange won second prize.

Miss Everice Parsons, manager of the Home Bureau, gave a report and invited any ladies who are not members of the Home Bureau to join, as many interesting projects will be taken up this year. The county-wide rally will be held September 26 in the Rochester Reformed Church.

Ethel Palen, member of the state service and hospitality committee, asked subordinate Grange committee chairmen to send their reports to the county chairman on time. She has charge of the committee page in the National Grange monthly for October and asked for any items of interest for the page.

The new Pomona degree team conferred the fifth degree in full form on the following: Bernadette Gaudette and Richard C. Gendreau of Ulster Grange; Chester Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Barrett of Clintondale Grange; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd VanAken of Stone Ridge Grange. Pomona's Court was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and fruit by Irene Sickler of Clintondale Grange. The worthy master thanked the team for their fine work and Clintondale Grange for the beautiful court and their hospitality. Deputy Story also thanked the team and thanked Clintondale Grange. He was pleased to see so many out for the work. Ulster county Granges had more than made their quota of new members for the year, he said.

The following were elected delegates to the State Grange: Vernon Barnhart of Patroon Grange, delegate-at-large; Margaret Hard of Ulster Grange; Raymond LeRoy of Homowack Grange; Lucie Gardner of Huguenot Grange.

Harold V. Story again was recommended for Ulster county deputy and Addie Graham of Stone Ridge was recommended for juvenile deputy.

Pomona Grange extended heartiest congratulations to Charles and Mary Bell of Highland Grange, who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Sister Gazley of Pomona service and hospitality committee reported that $9.50 had been made from the sale of candy. A letter from Harold Staley, secretary of the State Grange, thanked Ulster county Grangers for $105 they had sent in for the revolving scholarship fund.

Pomona Grange mourned the loss of two members during the past quarter, Sister Annie Kieffer of Lake Katrine and Sister Styles of Stone Ridge; sympathy was extended to their families.

Since the meeting fraternal greetings have been received from Saratoga County Pomona Grange, inviting Ulster county Grangers to attend the State Grange session in December. It is 21 years since Saratoga county was host and they are prepared to accommodate a large number. Their convention hall seats 5,000.

The December meeting of Ulster county Pomona will be held in Highland Grange hall at Lloyd.

Our Buildings Given Approval for Cornell

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Construction of four new buildings for the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, costing an estimated $6,193,450, has been approved by New York's Postwar Public Works Planning Commission.

Plans for a library and classroom building and an agricultural engineering building are being drawn.

Preparation of plans for an agronomy building and an entomology building have been ordered.

The library and classroom structure will cost an estimated $1,529,000, the agricultural engineering building $1,116,000, the agronomy building $2,000,000 and the entomology building $1,548,450.

All estimates are based on 1940 construction cost figures.

Stewart White, 73, Dies in California

Author and Adventurer
Was Born in Michigan;
Noted Explorer

STEWART EDWARD WHITE

San Francisco, Sept. 19 (AP)—Stewart Edward White, 73, who interpreted many of his own numerous adventures in some 40 novels, died yesterday at the University of California Hospital after an operation.

His best seller was "The Blazed Trail," and his own trail blazing led him from gold prospecting in the Western United States to scores of adventures in northern Canada and east Africa.

White was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., the son of T. Stewart White, a millionaire lumberman. After his graduation from the University of Michigan, he struck out for western trails, earning his own way, and started writing about his experiences several years later.

The Royal Geographic Society of London made him a Fellow for mapping German East Africa in 1913, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science elected him as a member for his writing about birds.

When he was past 50 years old, White choked a wounded leopard to death in the rescue of two Africans, and he remained in good health until two weeks ago, when he had the operation.

He was married in 1904 to Miss

Elizabeth Grant of Newport, R. I., and she accompanied him on many trips. After her death, he returned to his home at Budlingame, Calif.

Veterinary Association Asks Shows Suspend

Chicago, Sept. 19 (AP)—The American Veterinary Medical Association announced today it had recommended suspension of all live poultry shows, local quarantine measures, sanitation, and vaccination for poultry because of an outbreak of "Newcastle disease."

The association said the poultry ailment was "rapidly spreading" and urged research, diagnosis and reporting program or incidences of the disease.

No restriction on interstate movement of poultry has yet been confirmed in about 20 states, the A.V.M.A. reported. The ailment was first diagnosed in American flocks two years ago.

Seven Prisoners Break Jail at Tijuana, Mexico

Tijuana, Mex., Sept. 19 (AP)—The second mass break in five months from the Tijuana jail started a search today for seven men, one wanted for questioning in a Los Angeles murder case.

Police Chief Rodolfo V. Ponce said the seven men sawed bars on a window yesterday, scaled a wall and fled, presumably into the United States. Among the seven was Jack Hidalgo, 23, wanted in connection with the slaying of Lucas Baca in Los Angeles.

Last spring, 12 men dug a hole in the jail wall and fled. Eleven were recaptured.

Blue Barron Band At K. of C. Ball Here October 14

Past Grand Knight Joseph Murphy, chairman of the Music and Entertainment Committee for the 25th annual K. of C. Charity Ball announces that Blue Barron's Band has been signed to play for the entertainment and dancing at the ball. Due to prior commitments, the Barron Orchestra is unable to appear on October 11, which was the date first selected by the committee, so the ball date has been changed to October 14 in order to bring this great band to Kingston. Chairman Murphy states:

Blue Barron will personally lead his band, which is now appearing at the Hotel Edison in New York and featured in many nationwide broadcasts. This popular orchestra, one of the nation's foremost, has become famous for its sweet music styled the "Blue Barron Way." Featured vocalists also will appear with the orchestra.

Chairman Murphy and his committee is now arranging for the bill of entertainment and promises that it will be the best to appear in Kingston in a good many years. This year's K. of C. Charity Ball promises to be the most outstanding social event of the year.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Platypuses Coming
New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Three young natives of Australia will take up permanent residence in the next few months, and they won't have any housing problems.
They are duck-billed platypuses, among the world's rarest animals, and will be quarantined at the Bronx Zoo where elaborate preparations are being made for their comfort.

Add Weak Rejoinders
Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 19 (AP)—A motorcycle officer stopped a driver who turned left at a downtown intersection, almost knocking down a "No Left Turn" sign in the middle of the street.
"Didn't you see that sign?" asked the officer.
"Yes, but I'm from out of town," replied the driver.

House Vote
Stanford, Ill., Sept. 19 (AP)—John P. Allen, new principal of Stanford High School, thought his housing troubles were over when the school board's plan to build him a $7,000 home was approved by the voters, 69 to 67.
But six improperly marked ballots were questioned and the school board has called another referendum. Meanwhile, Allen's family is living in the high school home economics classroom, sweating it out.

Stork Finally Wins
Godfrey, Ill., Sept. 19 (AP)—Enloe Waters and his automobile beat the stork three times but the bird won the fourth race.
Waters was ahead by five or 10 minutes in getting his wife to the hospital when their first three children, all boys, were born.
The fourth child, a girl, arrived at the Waters home before her father even got the car started.

U. S. Delegates Are Opposed to Soviet Trieste Attitude

Appears Wallace Gag Is Signal for Byrnes to Continue Policy on Russia

By MEL MOST
Paris, Sept. 19 (AP)—United States delegates to the peace conference, relieved by the gag imposed on Secretary of Commerce Wallace, stood firm today in opposition to Russian proposals on Trieste.

Secretary of State Byrnes had already retired when word was received here this morning that President Truman had arranged to prevent Wallace from commenting on foreign affairs for the duration of the conference. No comment was forthcoming from other members of the U. S. delegation.

Nevertheless, it appeared that the Wallace gag meant clear sailing for Byrnes' policies—including his firm stand against Russian and Russian-satellite proposals concerning the vital Adriatic port of Trieste.

The Trieste question held the spotlight in the Italian political and territorial commission in two sub-committees. Russian proposals before the commission, western delegates asserted, would deprive Trieste of all effective outside control except from Yugoslavia.

Wallace's original foreign policy declaration, made last week in a speech in New York, advocated an easing in U. S. policy toward Russia, and caused the American delegation to face the Trieste problem with a wedge driven in its home-front support.

Both of Byrnes' senatorial advisers, Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Tom Connally (D-Tex.), issued statements disapproving Wallace's New York speech. Vandenberg accused the commerce secretary of cracking the American united front.

Every South American country except Chile and Ecuador touches Brazil's borders.

Barbed wire was invented in 1867.

ENVOY—Hume Wrong, 51 (above), has been named Canadian ambassador to the U. S., replacing Lester B. Pearson.

Accused of Larceny
Martin E. Maher (above), 21, who was identified by Robert A. Guerin, in charge of the FBI in Detroit, as a parolee from Portland, Me., was booked at Detroit for theft of four Army cars. He also was charged with illegal wearing of an Army uniform. Posing as a captain, Guerin said Maher obtained Army cars in Rock Island, Ill., Fort Devens, Mass., Kilmer, N. Y., and Buffalo, (AP Wirephoto)

Lewis Asks Board To Eliminate Meat

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—John L. Lewis called on the Price Decontrol Board today to remove price controls on meat saying that mines in three states are closing down because miners cannot buy meat.

The United Mine Workers' chief told the board in a telegram that "grave unrest" is spreading throughout all the mining areas, because miners "cannot perform the laborious and hazardous work" of producing coal on a diet of cereals and vegetables.

Lewis listed the three states in which the mines are shutting down as Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, in the heart of the rich soft coal belt.

Highest War Department Civilian Personnel Award
A. N. Lockwood, 58, New York city and Sparta, N. J., former director of the real estate division of the War Department, North Atlantic Division Corps of Engineers, well known in New York and northern New Jersey real estate circles, will be presented the exceptional service award medal today, by Colonel C. L. Hall, North Atlantic Division Engineer.

The exceptional service medal is the highest award to War Department civilian personnel. It is being presented to Mr. Lockwood for the outstanding manner in which he administered the real estate operations of the North Atlantic division, comprised of the New York, Philadelphia and Syracuse Engineer district offices. This was one of the most extensive undertakings in the history of a single agency, governmental or commercial, with a war peak of more than $21,000,000 annual rentals, involving over 3,000 leases. Of these $13,000,000 of annual rentals have been disposed, $5,000,000 are in the process of disposal and $3,000,000 are active. Besides leases, the program administered locally included the purchase of property costing $30,000,000 involving military construction and civil works projects in the states of New York, New Jersey, Delaware and the air bases and weather and radar installations in Eastern Canada, Newfoundland, Labrador and Bermuda.

Quick Arrested For Burglarizing Schecter Store
Granville Quick, Jr., 20, of Smith avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Wesley Cramer and Clarence Brophy on a charge of burglary in the third degree.

This morning in police court Quick waived examination, and was held to await the action of the grand jury.

The charge against Quick is based on the burglarizing of the grocery store of Mrs. Mollie Schecter at 17 East Union street, on two separate occasions during the past summer.

The police recently arrested two boys, both under 16 years of age, on charges of juvenile delinquency, and they were held for children's court. The two boys were accused of being with Quick when the Schecter store was burglarized.

Quick, according to the police, is also wanted by the army on a charge of being A.W.O.L.

Girls Plan Rally for Tri-Hi at Y. W. C. A.
Girl Reserve Name Changed to Y-Teens

Plans were made last evening by the program committee of Tri-Hi for its annual fall rally to be held Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium. All juniors and seniors are invited to join the club and take part in the activities of the Y-Teen department of the local Y. W. C. A.

The program will be in charge of Virginia Farrell, Frances Schaffer and Betty Bryant who attended the Y-Teens conference at Camp Sloane in June. These girls recently reported to the committee for younger girls work whose chairman is Mrs. R. P. Salisbury.

At that meeting the committee voted to change the name of Girl Reserves to Y-Teens in order to conform with the suggestion from the national association. Miss Audria Stinger, new director of the Teen-Age Program at the local association, explained that the old name did not adequately describe the program which the agency offers for co-ed groups. The national headquarters made a survey in the spring and found overwhelming support for changing the name. The Teen-age department will include seventh grade through senior year girls.

Attending the meeting were Miss Betty Bryant, president of the Tri-Hi will preside at the business meeting next Monday. The main item of business will be the election of a vice president and a recording secretary from the junior members. The following attended the committee meeting last evening: Betty Bryant, Virginia Farrell, Muriel Hoyt, Joan Moore, Frances Schaffer, Miss Stinger and Miss Gregory.

Agnes S. Smith Has
Article in 'Folklore'

Miss Agnes Scott Smith, a member of the Kingston High School faculty, is the author of the leading article in the summer issue of "Folklore" which was published this week. Entitled "The Dutch Had a Word for It," Miss Smith reviews some of the interesting Dutch customs and folk songs which have survived until the present time in Ulster county.

Miss Smith who became interested in local folklore several years ago has collected a number of tales which have been handed down in families of nearby communities. A second article, including witch tales, Indian yarns and various stories of local interest will be published in "Folklore," a quarterly magazine issued by the New York Folklore Society at a later date. Dr. Harold W. Thompson, head of the English department at Cornell University and author of "Body, Boots and Britches" is president of the society while Louis Jones, a member of the faculty at State College for Teachers, Albany, is editor of the magazine.

Dr. Corey Will Speak
At College Club Meeting

Dr. Albert Corey, state historian will be the speaker at the opening meeting of the Kingston College Women's Club this coming Tuesday evening. Dr. Corey will speak on "Old Stone Houses," a subject of special interest to residents of Kingston and Ulster county since so many of the best examples of early Dutch homes are located in this vicinity.

The club will open its year of activity with a supper at the Old Fort in New Paltz at 6 o'clock after which Dr. Corey will address the group. Arrangements for the evening are in charge of Mrs. William Thiel.

Howard Koch Heard On McBride Program

Howard Koch, of Hollywood, who has been spending a vacation in the east, yesterday made a guest appearance on Mary Margaret McBride's program at 11 p. m., over WEAF.

Miss McBride and Mr. Koch talked of Mr. Koch's latest picture for Samuel Goldwyn, "Earth and High Heaven," the screen play for which is based on Gwethalyn Graham's novel by the same name.

Mr. Koch spent some time last week in Montreal viewing the locale of the story, Life Magazine took pictures which will be released.

Prior to that Mr. and Mrs. Koch were at Lake Mohonk several weeks.

Mr. Koch, son of Frederick Koch of Schryver Court, this city, is one of Hollywood's best known scenarists. He holds the Academy Award for "Casablanca" in addition to other less widely publicized honors.

Parents Endorse Grouping Plan

went into detail. She cited various authorities on education. Many of these approved the "grouping" plan which is designed to give additional aid to pupils who are experiencing difficulty in reading. Authorities agree that reading is the basis of all knowledge and when a student is tardy in reading, he or she lags behind in other work and may experience difficulty in all school work. It was pointed out that by grouping students according to their ability to read and comprehend the meaning, it would be possible to give the slower readers additional instruction and help and bring them up to the average student by the end of the school year and permit them to continue on to the next grade.

Some of the parents described the idea as a move to establish "slow" and "fast" groups of children and they said once this was discovered by the pupil it would have a bad psychological effect.

Several parents voiced protests, saying that this effect was already being felt.

Authorities Cited

Mrs. Dingee read from numerous authorities and cited cities where the plan is in effect with great success. Some parents questioned the authorities and said there were also authorities of prominence who disagreed with the plan. This Mrs. Dingee said was true, that eminent authorities on education did not agree of methods and there were works to be found by eminent educators who would disagree but on the whole the plan now being tried in Kingston agreed with the New York state educational recommendations and was a preliminary step toward a goal for a better and higher educational plan. It was necessary to make a beginning she pointed out and if the system now used did not prove entirely right, it would be altered as results might indicate necessary.

Several teachers of No. 7 were present and spoke, telling of their attempts to give additional aid to such students as needed it in the reading work. They explained the methods, as did Mrs. Dingee, and in effect said they were trained in education and felt they could properly work out the program.

It was brought out that "grouping" had been done at the M.J.M. school since it was opened and had been very successful there. The two groups which are now used, and which may ultimately become three or four groups as the plan works out, are known as "Readiness Group I" and "Readiness Group II."

Methods of giving additional aid in reading to those who need it to bring them up to the better readers, were explained.

During the meeting the matter of kindergarten age admission came up and it was stated that the state department recommends four years and nine months as the best age for admission to kindergarten.

The Kingston Board of Education set the age at 4 years and 8 months but after protests by parents lowered the entrance age to four years and six months. First grade entrance age is five years eight months. It was pointed out that this early age of entrance, adopted after protest by parents, brought very young children to high school and colleges, an age when they were not yet fully matured and able to absorb to the best of their ability the work.

Never Had Kindergarten

It was also pointed out that in some schools in Kingston half of the first grade entering students never had the advantage of kindergarten and consequently were slower to pick up the work. One of the ideas of the "readiness grouping" is to correct this and get the pupils off on an even basis as soon as possible. It was stated that once the slower reader had acquired the ability to read faster, he would be advanced to the faster reading group, which is larger, and less personal attention therefore can be given the pupil.

At times the meeting went out of hand and several parents talked at one time, asking questions faster than they could be taken up and answered.

Chief among the objections to the "grouping" plan was the statement that the plan had not been sufficiently developed before being put into effect. Francis Martocci, one who expressed that opinion, stated that he felt the plan should be abandoned until such time as proper instructions could be given the principals and teachers and proper tests made to determine the ability of the students to enter one or the other group. He said he felt that more than a single test should determine this. The program had not been put into effect properly and the teachers were not properly prepared to take up the program, he said. The program had not been worked out sufficiently before it was started. Mr. Martocci said he felt that there never had been any intention of having it a "slow" and "fast" group but that the program had "deteriorated" into that plane and as a result it had become known as a division of students into a "smart" and "dumb" classification among the parents and pupils themselves. "It should be discontinued," he remarked.

Asks Expression

W. L. Rider, who spoke in opposition to the plan when the meeting opened said that once a child was given the impression that he was "dumb" that child went through life with the idea that he was dumb and he never had the initiative or ambition to do his best work, either in school or later in life.

After a lengthy discussion Mr. Rider then said that he would like an expression of hands by parents as to whether, after hearing the matter explained, they were in favor of or opposed to the plan.

On the show of hands Mr. Rider said he was satisfied the group favored continuance of the plan for the hands indicated better than two to one that the group of parents present favored the plan.

The Rev. Arthur Oudemool also spoke on the matter. He cited experience he had at Columbia University summer school this summer and also cited authorities who oppose the plan.

The matter of selection of teachers was questioned. It being stated that the selection was made not on the ability of the teacher to give the special aid but by "drawing straws." This Mr. Hyatt said was true because he did not desire to select teachers and have them feel that some of them were considered to have more ability because they were selected to teach one or the other of the groups. Mr. Hyatt said he felt the teachers had been all working on the plan for some time, were experienced educators and all were competent to do the work. He paid high tribute to his teaching staff and the teaching staff of all the city schools.

Several Women Speak

Several women spoke, including former school teachers who now are parents with small children in school. They expressed an opinion that the plan should be given a fair trial and if found wanting, it could be improved on or abandoned.

One parent at the close of the meeting stated that she felt some of the "bad effects" had come from the attitude of parents who did not understand the plan as it is now in effect and she stated that the parents should co-operate with the teachers and the Board of Education to aid in erasing any suggestion of "bad effect."

There were expressions that some pupils now were conscious of being in a "slow group" and were not endeavoring to do the best work according to their ability. This idea, one mother said, could be discouraged by the parents who should cooperate with the school authorities and give aid to their children in subjects in which they might be backward.

During the discussion Mr. Hyatt brought out the idea that there should exist in Kingston some organization among parents who could meet with the school officials and make suggestions and aid in carrying out school policies. He suggested the formation of such a group in No. 7 and said he would later secure a temporary chairman for such a group and call a meeting for the formation of such an organization for his school district.

A parent stated that the Kingston Board of Education had outlawed the Parent-Teachers Association which once flourished in Kingston.

It was stated that no revival of the Parent-Teachers Association could be had because of such a ruling by the Board.

However school officials pointed out that the former Parent-Teachers Association was abandoned by the Parent-Teachers Council itself and not by the Board of Education because the old organization had become involved "commercially."

Asked this morning by a Freeman reporter, Superintendent of Schools Arthur Laidlaw, said he knew of no ban by the Board of Education on a Parent-Teacher Association but that the Parent-Teacher Council had taken such action itself some time ago. Asked if there might be any objection to re-forming a Parent-Teacher Association in Kingston, he said there would be no such objection if the organization was formed along educational lines and to co-operate with the schools and give parent aid to school problems.

Just before adjourning the meeting Wednesday evening it was suggested that in view of the show of hands by parents at the meeting at No. 7 School, that the plan "as now in effect" be given a trial.

"We have faith in our teachers, let's work with them," was one mother's suggestion and several applauded the suggestion.

Just prior to closing Mr. Martocci stated that he still was opposed to the "grouping" plan as now being carried out because it had not been properly instituted, no proper study of needs had been made and the principals had not been given necessary instructions to present the plan properly to the teachers. More study should be made of any plan of this kind before it was put into effect.

In closing the meeting Mr. Hyatt said that in the past there had been errors in the teaching system which had not given pupils as good a foundation as they might have and the result had been that some students never were able to keep up with their classes. Some pupils he said became discouraged because of failure in school and were off to a bad start in life because of it. The present plan was to attempt to correct this and give them the best possible foundation for their future.

PARTY-GIVING PROBLEMS SIMPLIFIED

A hostess asks: "Are paper plates and napkins taboo at an evening party? We have no help and after a party, there are few hands to do the cleaning up. It would be so much easier to use paper. In addition to making party-giving easier, they do look pretty."

Since the main objection to having parties of any size in a house of service, or perhaps none at all, is the amount of dishwashing and laundry, paper napkins, plates and tablecloths are too practical to be tabooed.

Children at Wedding Breakfast
Dear Mrs. Post: In connection with my daughter's wedding am giving a wedding breakfast at one of the better hotels. Shall I be expected to invite the bridegroom's nieces and nephews, aged from two to ten years, whose parents will be invited? The mother of the bridegroom thinks so, whereas I and others believe differently.

Answer: The mother of the bridegroom is right. At weddings the children of both families always are included—possibly even at the age of two; certainly if they are above the age of three.

Titles Omitted
Dear Mrs. Post: When introducing unmarried friends to each other (all in the age bracket from 18 to 25), should titles be used? Also, how should these friends be introduced to parents?

Answer: When introducing those who are your intimate friends, you give their names without titles. You also introduce them as "Mary Blake" or "John Brown"—"My mother" or "my father."

Present For Doctor
Dear Mrs. Post: I owe life gratitude to a doctor who has helped me. What gift would be most appropriate to send him?

Answer: Preferably something for his office, such as for use on his desk.

To give the perfect dinner party, a hostess should know the rules concerning "Perfect Table"

Sell-Out Crowd Due for B'nai B'rith Ring Show Tonight K. A. A. to Start Sale of Season Grid Tickets for Campaign

Seven-Bout Card Features Top New England Champs

Five Five-Rounders, Two Threes Are Listed for 12th Show; First Bout Starts 9 P. M.

This is B'nai B'rith fight night in Kingston and boxing officials expect another jammed municipal auditorium arena to watch the seven bout bill which includes five five-rounders and two three-rounders. The first bout goes on at 9 o'clock sharp.

For this 12th semi-monthly show, local ring officials have secured some of the top simon pures from the Adirondack A.A.U. and the New England A.A.U. district.

Virgilio on Card
Carmine Virgilio, the uncrowned bantamweight champ of the Hudson valley, with four straight victories under his belt, is on tonight's card in one of the top five rounders. In recent bouts, the Poughkeepsie battler has scored successive decisions over George "Tahiti" Barker of Schenectady, Harold Morton and Jackie Thompson. Carmine is pitted against Dominic Saja, Boston Golden Gloves champion in tonight's match.

Two other Boston pugilists are on tonight's card and will see action in five round features. Jimmy McCabe, 132 and Tony Genovese, 145, are the other New England representatives.

Tony Mauceri, Schenectady better, who registered a quick knock-out over Dave Adams on the September 5 card, has been brought back by popular demand and he'll go against one of the Boston battlers tonight. After the last program ring fans were talking for days about Mauceri's stellar offensive show.

In addition to the New England fighters, B'nai B'rith club has secured Buddy Matthews, New York city welterweight star to box Tony Genovese tonight. A win for Matthews tonight may pay the way for a future engagement with Tony Burrone, another favorite upstate feather-swinging who has been out of action for the last couple of weeks because of a hand injury.

Here's the line-up for tonight's complete card:

Five Rounders
Buddy Matthews, New York city welter, who will box Tony Burrone at some future date vs. Tony Genovese, 145, Boston, Golden Gloves champion of New England.
Carmine Virgilio, 118, Poughkeepsie vs. Dominic Saja, Boston, Golden Gloves champion.
Tony Mauceri, Schenectady, vs. Tony Burrone, Schenectady.
Freddie Saja, Amsterdam midweight vs. Mike Belandi, Boston, former 160-pound New England champ.
Willie Smith, Poughkeepsie vs. Roosevelt Flagg, Albany featherweight. Flagg is anxious to even the score with Smith, who holds a decision over him.

Three Rounders
Barney Emberson, Kingston vs. Jimmy Foster, Albany.
Carl Barnes, Albany vs. Tony Antonio, Schenectady.
The first preliminary will start at 9 o'clock.

Munn Tests 3 'Combos'
Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Head Coach "Biggie" Munn is testing out three varsity combinations for the Syracuse football opener against Boston University September 28.

Back With Maroon

ARNOLD BELLINI

One of the few veterans back with Kingston High School's football team this fall is Arnie Bellini, backfield ace, who is expected to carry out a lot of the running plays for the team this year. Bellini was elected captain of the 1946 season last year. He will lead his Maroon club into action for the first time Friday night at municipal stadium in a game with Haverstraw High. The arc-light affair will start at 8 o'clock sharp.

Minor League Playoff Results

International League Semi-Final Playoffs:
Montreal 5, Newark 4 (Newark eliminated four games to two). (Syracuse has eliminated Baltimore four games to two).
American Association Playoffs:
No games scheduled. Indianapolis and Louisville will meet in the finals.
Eastern League Final Playoff:
Scranton 6, Hartford 2 (Scranton leads 2-0 in best-of-seven series).
Texas League Final Playoffs:
Fort Worth 3, Dallas 2 (tied 1-1 in best-of-seven series).
Southern Association Semi-Final Playoffs:
Memphis 5, Chattanooga 3 (Memphis wins series, 4-2).
Atlanta 9, New Orleans 8 (Atlanta wins series, 4-3).

Barr Is 'Comfortable'

Elizabeth Hospital reported today that George Barr, veteran National League umpire, was "resting comfortably" there after suffering a heart attack during the New York-Chicago game yesterday. Dr. Francis J. Sweeney, club physician for the Giants, administered a hypodermic injection after Barr was forced to leave the game, and then he ordered the 49-year-old arbir taken to the hospital. He said Barr probably would not be able to return to action this season.

Big Reds Together Again

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—The Big Red backfield is back on the job after a series of player injuries that caused Cornell grid Coach Ed McKeever to make several temporary shifts. Operating as a unit again are Captain Joe Martin at fullback, Carl Holland and Walter Kretz in the halfback spots, and John Burns at quarterback.

Louis Defends Crown Again In First Round K. O. of Tami

Challenger Goes Down After Exploding Best Punches; 38,494 Witness Fight

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—They dug up another heavyweight last night, Tami Mauriello, who was not scared of Joe Louis, and Tami wound up like so many of his predecessors have, a blubbing in his dressing room after having been knocked out by the great negro fighter in the first round.

The Bronx barkeep was not over-awed by the champion. With the very first punch of the title bout in Yankee Stadium, Mauriello clipped Joe on the temple and sent him reeling into the ropes as the strong rose and belovied its excitement.

And then Louis, more surprised than hurt, by his later admission, took after Tami, tore him apart and left him draped helplessly over the middle rope in 2:09 of the opening stanza. It was Joe's 23rd successful defense of his title.

"I thought I had him," Tami cried as he sat later with a towel draped around his dejected head. "I thought I had him, and I grew careless."

At that, and in the tradition of another tavern keeper, Tony Galante, Mauriello did not "die" on his way to fight Louis. He went in there cocky, exploded his best punches on the champion's jaw, and went down only after he had been beaten into helpless exhaustion.

That was much more than a number of other challengers have done. Last night's brief brawl, at a $30 top, drew the crowd of 38,494 that paid $335,063 more action and more thrills than the ballooned $100 number between Louis and Billy Conn three months back.

The echo of the starting bell still was bouncing around through the stadium's triple deck when Mauriello threw the first punch of the fight, a looping right, that caught Louis flush and sent him floundering against the ropes. Had the ropes not been there, Joe would have landed in about the second row.

Never Saw Punch Coming
Joe said later he never saw the punch coming—didn't even know whether it had been a right or a left. "I want to see the movies of that one," he admitted.

Though it was a stiff wallop, it didn't appear to daze the champion, only emboldened him. He was right back, tearing into Mauriello with a flurry of terrific lefts and rights, and within seconds nearly ripped Tami's head off with a clean left hook to the button.

Tami's 195½ pounds hit the canvas with a bump. He started to rise at five, but thought better of it and settled back for the count of nine. Then he came up punching.

From that point, until the end came about a minute later, it was a fine brawl. Almost second by second as Louis poured the leather to him, Tami poured the leather to him. Tami's features became more puffed and bloody, but he never ceased to fight back. He must have realized it was hopeless, but the kid tried.

Solomon Says Louis To Fight Woodcock

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—Boxing Promoter Jack Solomons said today Joe Louis would defend his world heavyweight title against British Champion Bruce Woodcock in London next summer.

"I will guarantee that the Louis versus Woodcock world heavyweight title fight will take place in London next summer," Solomons said.

"Mike Jacobs will not say no to me, but naturally it'll have to be a joint promotion." Meanwhile Solomons said he proposed to bring Mauriello, whom Louis knocked out in a swift first round last night, to London for a return match with Woodcock.

Mauriello knocked out Woodcock in New York earlier this summer. Woodcock, who improved form, knocked out world's lightweight champion Gus Lesnevich of Clifside Park, N. J., here Tuesday night.

Applause for Donovan

It was the first time that Donovan, most famous of the referees, had worked a Louis fight since Joe stopped Buddy Baer down at Washington in 1941. Donovan had not refereed a fight in the state since last May—since an unfortunate incident in which a longtime friend of his was killed in an early morning street fight. He received a heart-warming round of applause when he was introduced.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey, who only watched the brief exercises, visited both fighters in their dressing rooms after it was over. He told Louis he thought it had been a "good fight."

The result, which surprised no one in particular, only served to emphasize Louis' dominance of the heavyweight ranks. Mauriello was as "logical" a contender as could have been dug up at the moment. The crowd didn't expect the Bronx boy to win, but only to fight to the extent of his abilities, and he did just that.

There still is no better sports dollar than one spent to watch Joe Louis fight even part of a round. Joe said he likely would fight again in February, though he was appropriately vague as to who his opponent might be. He mentioned Bruce Woodcock, the British Empire champion who knocked out Gus Lesnevich of Clifside Park, N. J., the world's light heavyweight champion, two nights ago in London. He refrained from mentioning that Mauriello from mentioning that Mauriello kayode Woodcock only a few months ago on this side.

Obviously, there is no fighter at this time ready to climb into the ring with the 32-year old champion. A likely possibility is that his next opponent will be the winner of a bout between Jersey Joe Walcott and Elmer Violett Ray of Florida, a couple of colored heavyweights. Joe Bakshi has an outside chance of horning into the elimination series.

Nicholsky made his first public appearance at the age of three, in a dance number his father had composed for him.

Time and Patience Required for G.I. Gridders This Fall

Pro Coaches Feel Sport and Ex-Servicemen Will Get Along Well This Year

New York, Sept. 19 (Special)—Football and the returning service man will get along very well together if both remember not to expect too much immediately from the man who has been away from athletic training and body contact competition for a couple of seasons.

Time and patience are all that are needed to bring the stars of 1941 back into the limelight. Coaches George Halas of the Chicago Bears, himself a returning service man, and Curly Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers, have concluded at the end of three weeks of training camp work. "The fan will have to be patient with the old timer," Halas said, "and the old timer will have to curb his own enthusiasm. If he does not expect too much from himself at the start, we will be cheering the same old stars late in the race. It is a matter of conditioning and recovering poise and the looseness that was lost through absence from football for several seasons. But it can be and is being recovered by the returning players on the Bears' roster."

Lambeau, who experienced some of the problems of conditioning returning stars last season, expects football to fare better with returning service men than other sports. "Most men rejoining National League teams," says the veteran packer coach, "have been out of service for six to eight months, during which they have been able to undergo some readjustment. In other sports, former top notch stars have been asked to jump into the starting lineup a day or two after their discharge and were deprived of this readjustment period."

George McAfee, Chicago Bear star, who spent four years in the Navy, said his greatest difficulty was getting accustomed to falling on the ground again.

Lou Ferry Named

Villanova, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Lou Ferry, sophomore tackle from Chester, Pa., was named today to captain Villanova's football team against Army Saturday at West Point. Ferry, rated by Coach Jordan Olivar as one of the most promising tackles in the east, starred in Villanova's opener against the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy eleven from Kings Point, N. Y.

Boston Has the Cash

Boston, Sept. 19 (AP)—Boston wound up its first season of night baseball last night with dollar bills sticking out of every compartment in the cash register. Twenty-four night contests at Braves Field drew 568,083 fans as compared to the previous high for an entire season of day and night play, 518,833 set in 1933. The Red Sox will install lights at Fenway Park next year.

Roster of Local Semi-Pro Eleven Indicates Big Year

K.A.A. Team Opens Hudson Valley League Sunday at Port Jervis; Walden Club Here Next Week

One of the most enthusiastic football meetings held by the Kingston Athletic Association was that of Wednesday night in the Elks' Club, where President Thomas Davitt was assured full support for the K.A.A. grid team.

"It's encouraging to preside over such a session as this," he said in addressing more than 100 members who turned out in answer to the call to discuss important plans for the football season.

"I'm very much pleased at the attitude you men have displayed towards the fall sport, and judging by it we'll have a successful season," he remarked.

Kingston's first game at the municipal stadium is with the Walden Red Tigers, Saturday night, September 28. Starting time is 8:15 p. m.

Each club will have a game stowed away prior to the arclight contest here. Kingston is slated to play at Port Jervis Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Walden is booked for a home game in opposition to Middletown on Friday night, September 20.

At last night's meeting plans were discussed for the sale of season tickets. Joe Messinger, chairman, will mail tickets to fans all over Ulster county.

Progressive Program Underway

"We'll have them out in a day or two," he said, "and hope that those who receive them will send in checks. Money raised on football will go towards the promotion of juvenile sports next summer. The K.A.A. has a progressive program under way to help the children of Kingston in all lines of sports."

Messinger recalled the remarks of various prominent citizens interested in the organization's efforts to help the youth of the city.

A report was made on the Hudson Valley Football League. "Kingston can be proud to play in this circuit," a newspaper man said. "President Johnny Law has a classy looking loop ready for action. All of the managers are responsible men with a keen interest in making the league tick. Player rosters assure the fans that there will be plenty of first-rate football on tap. All of the clubs have new equipment and seasoned players."

Cities with teams in the league are Kingston, Middletown, Port Jervis, Newburgh and Walden. Each club will meet twice during the season which is to extend into late November.

Kingston's home schedule at the municipal stadium is:

- September
28—Kingston vs. Walden, 8:15 p. m.
- October
5—Exhibition game, night.
19—Kingston vs. Newburgh, 8:15 p. m.
- November
2—Kingston vs. Middletown, 8:15 p. m.
9—Exhibition game, night.
17—Kingston vs. Port Jervis, 2 p. m.

Regarding the two exhibition contests, Manager Larry Glennon said that as soon as the strength of his club is established efforts would be made to bring in the highest calibre clubs available outside of the league.

Coach Optimistic

Coach Weldon McCuskey is optimistic about the outcome of the Port Jervis tilt there on Sunday. "Kingston has been showing up well in practice," he told a reporter.

Johnny Law, who is president of the Hudson Valley League retrained from commenting officially on the prospects of the local eleven, intimated it is one of the best looking clubs in his circuit.

"I've never seen a Kingston team in better trim physically," was Trainer Gus Steigewald's remark. He's in a position to know, having handled practically all of this city's semi pro clubs from the time of the early Yellow Jackets. Kingston's backfield is made up of Flash Marone, quarterback; Tommy Murphy and Rog Mogan, halfbacks and Jackie Ruzzo, fullback.

Marone and Murphy are youngsters developed by Coach Bill Burke when he was football manager at Highland High School. During the war they played on army clubs. Ruzzo, who got his start at New York Military Academy, was on the U. S. Marine team that created a sensation in the Pacific area where servicemen took their football seriously.

In addition to these men, Manager Larry Glennon has three others on a par with those mentioned—Benny Bragg, E.T.O. backfield star; Don Neff, formerly with the Watertown Pros and Fleet Marines, and Zip Pisanu, another pupil of Coach Burke.

Average weight of Kingston's backfield is 180 pounds.

Ends are Andy Murphy, former Bucknell star; Russ Murphy, Highland High School and service line; Jack Gill, ex-grinder from North Carolina State and Pete "The Greek" Romeus, one of the flashiest pass receivers ever developed at Highland High.

Tackles are Fred Hofbauer, Kingston High and Yellow Jacket star; Frank Mazzetti, 210-pounder from Auburn; Tom Curran, former Newburgh grinder; and Harold Bowers, Kingston High lineman of pre-war years.

At the guard posts will be Nix Lemister, one of the most popular Kingston High molesters; a new years back; John Anger, great running guard from Highland; Francis "Brud" Burger, who starred with the Yellow Jackets when they represented Kingston.

For the center post, Kingston has two outstanding gridders, Joe Garland, who went from Kingston High School to Lafayette College and then joined the Fleet City Blue Jackets on the west coast, also Joe Shattan, former K.H.S. favorite.

From end to end the line averages better than 200 pounds.

Polo Tourney Resumes

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—The National Open Polo Tournament, 30th in a series that began in 1904, resumes this afternoon at Mike Phipps' Los Amigos quarter horses Laddie Sanford's Hurricane in a semi-final round match. The winner of today's match will meet Mexico's international team in the final round at Meadow Brook Club's International Field Sunday. Mexico's riders, the four Tracida brothers, were seeded in the final round of the National Open because of their excellent play in the recent U. S.-Mexico series.

ing a U. S. Army parachute rescue party, were being readied to resume the hunt for the plane today.

The missing plane, which was due at 3:30 a. m. (E.D.T.) Gander and at L. Guardia Field here at 11 a. m., was last heard from at 3:37 a. m. as it was approaching Gander through a 500-foot ceiling. At that time it reported its fuel supply sufficient to last until 10:57 a. m. (E.D.T.).

It had left Brussels Tuesday night and made a refueling stop at Shannon airport, Eire, before heading out over the North Atlantic. It was piloted by Capt. Jean Ester, RAF and Belgian air force pilot.

Yesterday, the Coast Guard said it received a message from the North Atlantic patrol stating an outbound C-54 passenger plane, not otherwise identified, reported seeing wreckage northeast of Gander. But searchers reaching the scene found the wreckage of a military aircraft.

Fernand J. Martens, American representative of Sabena, announced in New York that the plane carried 27 passengers, including a crew of seven, including two stewards.

Most of the passengers were American and Belgian businessmen. Among the passengers was Helen Ruth Henderson, of New York, executive secretary of the International Division of the Girl Scouts, who was returning from a Girl Scout conference in Egan, France.

Capt. Budlong Merrill said when he arrived here yesterday morning with his TWA Paris-New York plane that his takeoff from Gander was delayed 40 minutes because the Belgian plane was making contact with the Gander tower. When the Belgian plane did not land, Capt. Merrill said, his flight was released and he saw no trace of the plane.

shipping on all coasts. He said he would ask all ship operators, particularly those on the west coast, to reinstate all men on strike.

Declaring west coast workers were not directly affected by the decision, Fly said, "this award affects the west coast in that it affords a basis for a back-to-work movement" on the west coast.

Also involved in the hearings before Fly, which were concluded Friday, were the C.I.O. Marine Cooks and Stewards Union and the Independent Marine Firemen, Oilers, Wipers and Water-tenders. These, with the N.M.U., struck at the end of the A.F.L. wage parity with A.F.L. mariners.

With few exceptions, the award places the men on parity with other unions. Fly said, "Retrospectively will be on the same basis as settlement of the Seafarers International Union (A.F.L.) dispute. Where there still remain some inequities on matters not completely adjusted, they can be settled by negotiation. These are so incidental there is no reason to prolong the strike."

Earlier, N.M.U. President Joseph Curran had blamed "mysterious forces in high government circles" and the "arbitrary attitude of J. B. Bryan, head of the Pacific American Shipowners Association, for delaying a quick end of the strike.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—The stock market averages today dropped to a new low for the past 18 months on heavy volume notwithstanding intermittent recovery sorties which failed to develop any real stamina.

Commission men continued to blame selling partly on the idea of the breaking of recent lows meant that a bear market may be under way, that growing labor disputes will seriously retard industry and complex foreign and domestic political affairs tend to cloud the economic picture.

Some bidding now and then was credited to the belief the list had been substantially oversold.

Dealings, fairly active from the start, picked up speed around midday when the ticker tape, for the first time in years, was seven minutes late for a lengthy space as offerings deluged the floor. All departments suffered with losses ranging from 1 to 5 or more points near the fourth hour.

Conspicuous on the relapse were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Tel. & Tel., American Can, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Union Pacific, Phelps Dodge and Standard Oil (N.J.).

Bonds were traded with stocks and commodities were mixed.

Ruso Has Good Night

Meanwhile the driver of the produce truck which left the road in order to avoid a head-on collision with the school bus, Earl E. Ruso, of Rensselaer, was reported to have spent a comfortable night at the Kingston Hospital. Mr. Ruso suffered chest injuries and possible broken ribs in the accident.

Mrs. Therese Wolleas Kessel, of Bearsville, a pedestrian who was buried under a load of cauliflower when Ruso veered off the highway into a ditch in avoiding the head-on collision, is resting at her home.

Columbia Discards Off-Campus Plans For Middletown

Unit May Be Established Under Auspices of the State Association of Colleges

Columbia University has decided not to attempt to institute an off campus unit in Middletown, Carl T. Warren, superintendent of Middletown schools, has announced. He added, however, that a plea was sent to the State Education Department in Albany, and the hope for establishment of a unit under the auspices of the State Association of Colleges for New York state is bright.

Some 400 applications had been filed by those who planned to enter the off campus college when established, and a number of them were from Ulster county.

In a communication addressed to Myron C. Altig, president of the Middletown education board, Dr. Frank D. Fackenthal, acting Columbia president, said the proposed college center would be too great a burden on Columbia facilities already overwhelmed by the greatest student influx in the history of the institution.

Dr. Fackenthal suggested that the plans be continued under the sponsorship of the state association, which has backed educational units at Sampson, Utica and Lake Champlain. He also stated that although Columbia has abandoned the thought of operating the unit itself, it will take an active part in aiding the association.

Allen Wycroft Will Be Grilled ation, while Wycroft was said to be at a New Jersey school.

May Be Questioned Today Sheriff George C. Smith said he expected Wycroft to be brought to Kingston some time today for questioning. No charge will be filed against the youth until he has been questioned.

The sheriff's office investigators said that their inquiry revealed that young Wycroft proceeded directly to Yonkers after the accident. This supports the theory that the car turned around and proceeded back toward Woodstock after the crash. Earlier testimony of witnesses indicated the unidentified driver had proceeded on toward Bearsville after momentarily halting at the scene.

Student Gives Information County Investigator Clayton Vandenburgh and District Sheriff Leonard Ellsworth stated that the tip on Summerville which eventually involved Wycroft was the result of intensive questioning of the students, resulting in a breakdown of one of the boys.

When the students were questioned immediately following the accident, the investigators said, they all testified they did not recognize the driver of the 1938 Chrysler sedan which may have been a contributing factor to the accident. The students persisted in disclaiming any knowledge of the identification of the driver until one of the boys changed his story and said he recognized Summerville as one of the occupants of the sedan.

Meantime the driver of the produce truck which left the road in order to avoid a head-on collision with the school bus, Earl E. Ruso, of Rensselaer, was reported to have spent a comfortable night at the Kingston Hospital. Mr. Ruso suffered chest injuries and possible broken ribs in the accident.

Mysterious Blaze Destroys Krumville Church, One of Ulster County's Landmarks

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Dutch Reformed Church at Krumville, one of the oldest churches in Ulster county, around noon time Wednesday. The fire was discovered by a school boy who notified the pastor, the Rev. William H. Barringer, at his home directly across the road from the church building.

The Woodstock Fire Department was summoned and reported quickly, followed by the Accord firemen. When first discovered the fire was raging in the bellry of the church, with flames and smoke shooting from the tall spire.

Despite the intense heat and smoke raging through the structure, men and boys of the vicinity entered the auditorium and succeeded in removing the historic church Bible, the pulpit, organ and hymn books, handing the articles out through a rear window to people on the outside.

Creates Serious Hazard Blazing embers and sparks from the church fire created a serious hazard to the frame buildings clustered around the village school located close to the church. The parsonage roof as well as the roof of the school, and other parts of the building were on fire several times but bucket brigades kept the fire spread at a minimum. At one stage the flames spread to the dry grass in adjoining fields and a large force of men and boys were engaged in checking the spread.

The church building was originally built at Samsonville in 1831 and was moved to Krumville about 70 years ago. The Rev. Barringer has been pastor at Krumville for the past eight years.

The fire completely leveled the structure and when the church bell dropped from its burned fastenings it scattered burning embers over a wide area. The ashes of the fire were still so hot and considered so dangerous that a watch was kept on the spot throughout the night.

No action was taken regarding the securing of other quarters for the religious services of the Krumville congregation. It was reported that at the time of the fire nearly all the church officers were attending the Grahamsville Fair, and did not learn of the loss until last night.

Fixed Price Sale Drugs, Surgical Supplies by WAA

A half-million dollar fixed price sale of surplus surgical, hospital and dental supplies, drugs, pharmaceuticals, laboratory reagents and culture media, for priority holders and commercial buyers, has been announced by the New York Office of the War Assets Administration. Orders must be received by the WAA not later than October 19.

Priority orders will be filled first, following which demands from commercial buyers will be met in the sequence in which they have been received. The quantity of each item available will be prorated within any given priority or commercial group if the total orders received from that group exceed the available quantity. The property is located in various depots at Binghamton, Schenectady, the Bronx and Edgewater, N. J. It may be inspected daily, Monday through Friday, from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Sales are F.O.B. site.

Inquires regarding this sale should be addressed to the War Assets Administration, Suite No. 4-1644, Drug and Medical Division, 70 Pine street, New York.

tor with the feeling that he knows him or that somebody in whom he has confidence knows him and that the doctor will have an interest in him above and beyond his being just another "case."

Dr. Hale praised voluntary care insurance as the American way of making medical care prepayment during the first six months of 1946 the medical society-sponsored plans in New York State increased their enrollment about 155,000 or 125 per cent over all previous enrollments.

"One of the most potent arguments against the enactment of such legislation as the Wagner-Murray-Dingell Bill," Dr. Hale stated, "is that it would interfere with the development of voluntary medical insurance plans during the crucial experimental period in medical economic history."

New Poisons Are Of More Concern Than Atom Bomb

Scientist Reports of One So 'Super Deadly' an Ounce Could Wipe Out U.S., Canada

By ELTON C. FAY
Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—More or less cryptic hints of terrifying new weapons of death came from three directions today.

One was tucked away in Secretary of Commerce Wallace's controversial foreign policy letter to President Truman—a passing but significant reference to radioactive poison gas.

Another was contained in a radio address by Editor-Scientist Dr. Gerald Wendt, who spoke of a "super-deadly" poison so potent a single ounce could kill every person in the United States and Canada.

Finally, Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the Army's Chemical Corps, frankly acknowledged that his experts have worked with toxic agents that have "power far, very far beyond anything we had known in previous chemical warfare research."

Waitt's remark to a reporter was a guarded commentary on the address at Schenectady, N. Y., last night by Wendt, editorial director of the magazine Science Illustrated.

Declines to Comment
Wendt said the poison was an innocent-looking crystalline toxin that had been developed by the Chemical Corps.

Waitt said he did not know which specific poison the speaker was referring to, so he declined to speculate how it might be spread.

The general was emphatic, however, in expressing belief that the potentialities of poison or biological warfare "rivals the atomic bomb in importance to national defense."

Discussing the tactical and strategic use of such a weapon, he asserted that it "has a flexibility the atom bomb doesn't have—it can be directed against individuals."

Avoids Discussion
The Chemical Warfare Service commander said he preferred to avoid discussion of Wallace's reference to radioactive poison gases.

Mentioning "a world of atomic bombs and other revolutionary weapons, such as radio-active poison gases and biological warfare," the 3600-word letter made no other allusion to the subject.

However, the fact that Wallace wrote of "other" weapons than the atomic bomb suggested that he was referring to something besides the now well-known by-product of the bomb explosion itself.

While there was no amplification of this point in Wallace's radioactivity:

The atomic bomb, in detonating, produces radioactivity in two forms: The direct radiation of high-speed, high penetration rays at the instant of detonation; contamination resulting from the creation of fission products representing roughly the ash of nuclear fission. In itself, this characteristic of the bomb represents one form of poison warfare.

But in the operation of atomic energy plants, the same by-products of nuclear fission occur. And these products constitute a problem of disposition.

Hence it might be assumed that they could be "bottled" for peaceful use in hospital therapy—or stocked up as the charge for radioactive poison gas bombs.

Two Still Alarms
The fire department responded to two still alarms last night, one at 5:56 o'clock for a grass fire in St. Mary's Cemetery on Foxhall avenue, and the other for a fire in the rear seat of the auto of A. D. Ronder parked in the rear of 265 Wall street. The cushion and rear seat were damaged.

Will Quit Search
New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Search for 11 men still missing from the Norwegian tanker Marit II, which split in two and sunk in hurricane-tossed seas last Friday, will be dropped today, the Coast Guard announced.

Turkey Supper
Full course turkey supper for benefit of Emanuel Baptist building drive will be held at 45 Meadow street Friday. Dinners will be delivered; phone 3286-R.
